The Stars Come Out Again

Our story begins with the first day of school. Freshmen try to find all their classes and get there on time, while the sophomores remember the new discoveries they encountered last year. Juniors look towards their ACT and SAT tests and involve themselves in more extracurricular activities. The members of the class of '82 are now the leaders. They reflect on their past three years and stand now where they have waited so long to be. This last one has to be memorable, but college and future work concern them most.

There's new classes and new teachers to get accustomed to and at the same time we strengthen old friendships and meet new people. Students at Niles West prepare for a new year.

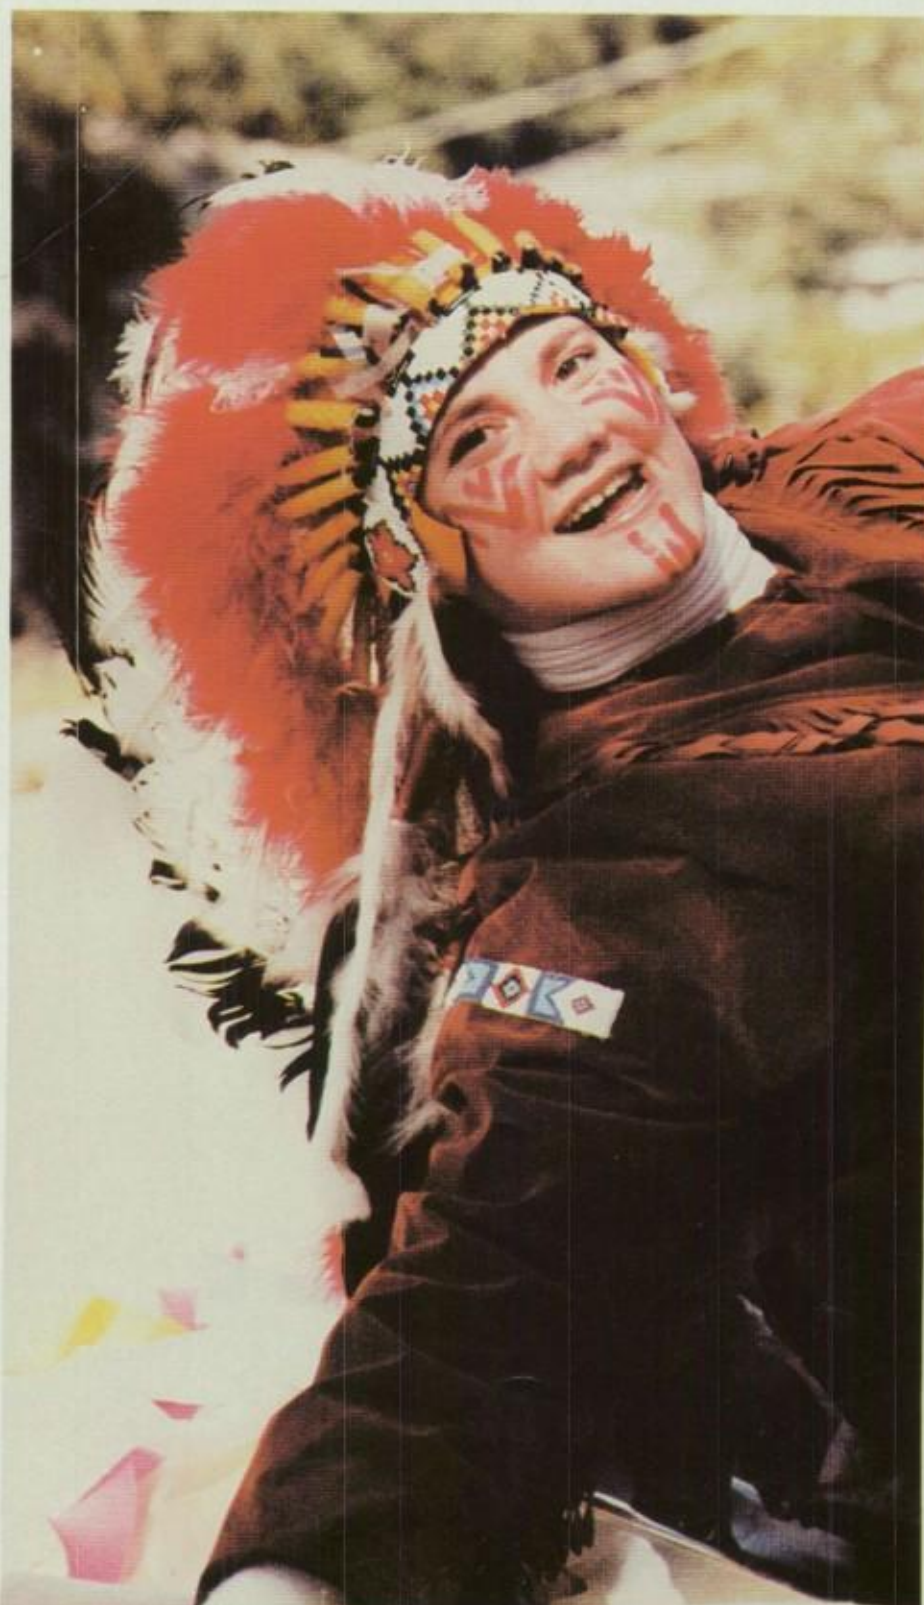

Metallic Mania is a craze that has hit Niles West like a gold rush. Clothes such as belts, shoes, purses, and other accessories have been coated with bronze, silver, and gold. These moccasins are covered in bronze and pewter.

Some say, "See ya later alligator," but true preppies are wearing them more than ever. These shirts are being worn alone or underneath oxford cloth shirts with the collars up. You can easily spot these shirts on both guys and gals because of their brilliant colors such as yellow, peach, fusia, and red.

Designer shoe laces have the "boring tennis shoe syndrome" all tied up. Kids of all ages at West are wearing them not only as shoe laces, but as belts, necklaces, and ribbons. They come in all colors of the rainbow, and in many patterns not pictured: hearts, stars, basketballs etc

Clockwise: The Niles West Marching Band makes its debut on Skokie Blvd. Our mascot, Heather Zakson, prepares for her parade through school district 219. The Varsity runners of the Girls' Cross Country team stretch out before the Niles West Indian Invite. Mr. Davis instructs one of his art foundations students.

The location is Oakton at Edens Expressway. As the lights go down and the curtain is drawn many different types of people appear. Niles West has opportunities for all kinds of interests. Clubs ranging from computers and science fiction and fantasy to the American Field Service and student representative assembly are active with those who wish to support. Fund raisers help to keep the activity alive, as each group donates its time to community service, and displays a fine attitude of high school students.

SCENE I

Cast members of Pow Wow perform at an assembly for seniors.

Preppies beware! The anti-preppy movement is here ... Anti-preppies have taken to their motto of "Save an alligator, eat a preppy" that they proclaim by wearing anti-preppy shirts, buttons, and sweat-shirts ... Members of the anti-preppy coalition have been publishing newsletters and pamphlets to let everyone know of their "prep-peeve."

Got a Sweet tooth? For an extra special treat, West students have been enjoying the status symbol of ice cream, Haagen-Dazs. Favorites include chocolate chocolate chip, Macadamia nut, and ever popular vanilla, all topped with M&Ms, chocolate sprinkles, or nuts. Students seem to agree, nobody Dazs it better.

Hey cowboy! Dudes at West have been head'in for the 'ol trad-in post, trading in their old tennies for the Western look, by way of boots, hats, and belt buckles. "Indians, this town ain't big enough for the both of us."

Clockwise: Juniors Jeff Deer and Andy Much do some last "mod" studying in the cafeteria. The Highland Park Giant effigy burns before a Homecoming victory. Psuedo Pom-pom girl Deb Havdala gets a kick out of trying to to learn the "Zip-pity-do-da" routine from Pom-pom girl Michelle Gorchow. Freshman Maureen Whelan dresses up for Halloween as the ever popular Smurf doll. Junior Lisa Kozokar escapes from the local circus. Junior Brenda Moss explains, "The Devil made me do it."

LIGHTS,

The director shouts the familiar phrase as the cast and crew run to their places. The quarterback and his team huddle to plan their strategy while their coach shouts from the sidelines. Energetic cheerleaders yell to lead the team to victory. The scene is a football game at West's Basrak field. The marching band as well as the pom-pon girls are there with the fans to participate in the fun. With all the other sports such as basketball, volleyball, and baseball, the different scenes are exciting each in their own way.

CAMERA,

The pom-pon squad does a routine in the contest gym for an in-school pep assembly.

ACTION!

How do preppies keep their feet in style? With Polo socks by Ralph Lauren of course. Socks in every color possible have been replacing the traditional white sweat socks at West. For the true preppy, these socks are a dream come true, as now everyone can dress preppy from head to toe.

That @%*(Rubik's Cube! Rubik's cube has West students obsessed with the never ending Rubik plight. While some can finish it, by matching all the colors on each side, in less than five minutes, most students can not in five hours. The cube, in many shapes, has been even attached to key chains, for some on-the-road entertainment.

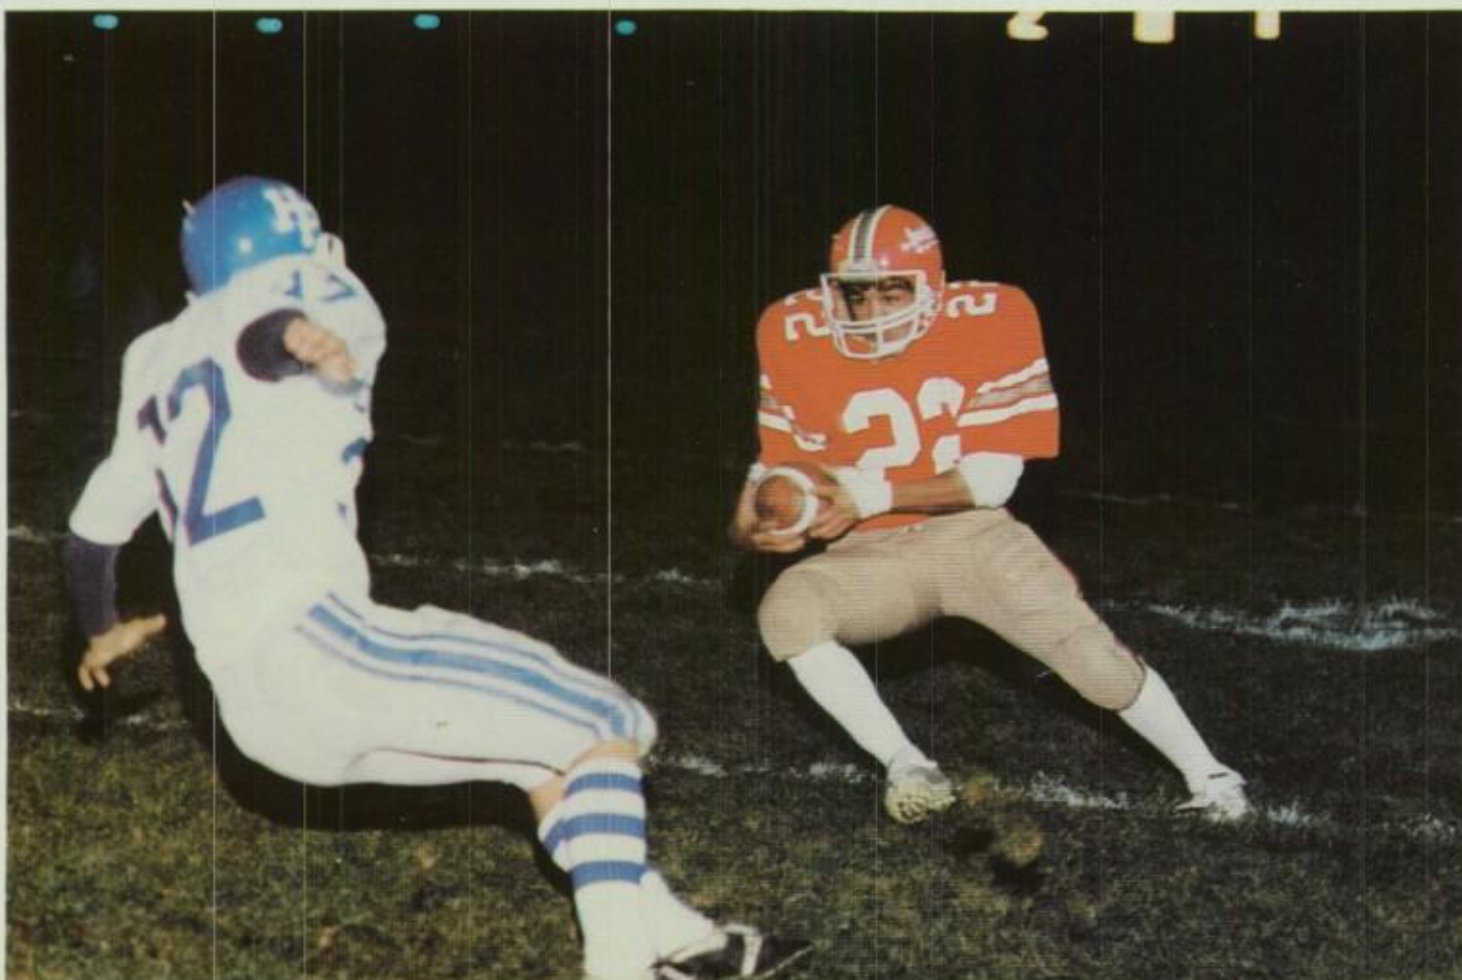

Jelly Bellies! Who can resist the bright, delicious, multi-flavored candy? Certainly not West students. Most agree that Jelly Bellies are the best of Jelly beans. Enhancing, enticing flavors include; pina coloda, watermelon, peanut butter, and cotton candy. What ever taste you desire, Jelly Bellies are sure to please.

Clockwise: "But Mrs. Graham, I worked so hard on this."

Laura Friedlander is ecstatic as she accepts the first place trophy for the Indian Invite.

From each frame of the film we see the views come together to form one idea. The communities of Niles, Morton Grove, Skokie, and Lincolnwood are joined to contribute to what Niles West stands for. The reviews of the critics are important for future success of the stars, just as the opinions of the township members are of the school.

Gobble, gobble, gobble. These sounds have been attracting West students to video games everywhere. By far the most popular is Pac-man, which lets players chase after dots, fruits, and the quick Pac-men. Pac-man has started a video era that is sure to stay around for a long time.

Backpacks aren't just for camping anymore. West students have brought their packs out of the camp grounds and into the hallways. No longer just in the military colors, backpacks can be found in blue, pink, yellow, or red. No longer used only for camping, backpacks are used for book and gymclothes, and the ever-popular "collegiate" look.

Do you suspect your best friend of being a prep? If you do, check for these signs. Does your friend call his parents mummy and daddy? Does he have a sister named Tissy, and a poodle named Muffy? Is his favorite color Kelly Green? Does your friend vacation off the coast of Maine? These are only warning symptoms, but to be sure, check his East wing library for the Official Preppy Handbook.

A Time To Remember

This last picture show of the 1981-1982 school year is the final chance to recapture our special moments. The crowning of the homecoming queen and king to the excitement of winning sports competitions is prominent. Added attractions include all the other facets of the school which make it interesting and worth attending. The spectrum of the stage lights puts it all in focus for the viewing by a worthy audience.

A time for herself during the school day on a nice afternoon.

FLASHBACK

Can you remember when movies were 3-D? Well, even if you don't, you can once again experience the effects of 3-D movies. The sudden revival of 3-D movies have students from West dodging flaming arrows, bats, coins, and rats as they seem to jump off the screen into your lap. Although these glasses are not yet fashionable, with the punk revolution, who knows?

Water? H₂O? No, it's Perrier, the natural, sparkling mineral water from France. Although not available at water fountains at West, students find this drink refreshing with a twist of lemon at home.

Do you play rugby? Well, even if you don't, you can wear these comfortable, bold striped shirts that come in many color combinations like green and navy, purple and yellow, or navy and red. Get off the polo field and play some rugby wearing this sporty shirt.

Coming Home is what West graduates did as Home Coming week got off to a dynamic start with the in school Pep Assembly held on October 1. The spirited crowd was entertained by the award winning pom-pon squad, while the Varsity Cheerleaders cheered the crowd on. Homecoming committee chairmen were announced, as were the nominees for King, Queen and their court. Enthusiastic speeches were given by Varsity football coach, Don Huff and Athletic director, Gerald Turry.

The festivities continued that night with a twilight pep rally at Basrak field. Captains Mike Figurelli and Ken Sall spoke a note of confidence to the team and fans. The event was highlighted by the traditional flashlight pom-pon routine and the naming of Alan Keller as Homecoming King and Liz Kogen as Queen along with court members Lauri Feldman, Monica Hagg, Linda Weiss, Jenny Weiss, Shawn Ridley, Ken Sall, Bob Strauss, and Mark Witt. The evening was concluded when the Highland Park Giant was burned in effigy.

The next night, Friday, October 2, the Ice Cream Social sponsored by SAB was held in the cafeteria and the contest gym. Ice cream was served and everyone celebrated the Varsity victory.

The Homecoming Parade, sponsored by S.A.B., traveled through the streets of Morton Grove, Niles, Skokie, and Lincolnwood to spark the start of the Homecoming weekend. Included in the parade were Alan Keller and Liz Kogen, Homecoming King and Queen. Following them were their respective courts.

Categories of floats, such as the underclassmen floats, a float designed by the recycling center, a homeroom float, a Midnight Rider float, and an N-Club float, made their way down the scheduled route. The three top winners were the Recycling Center's float, the Junior Class Cabinet's float and Homeroom 222's "Big Guys" float. The parade was preceded by an in school pep assembly and followed by the Two-light Pep Rally held that night in Basrak Stadium.

Giants prepare your will, Indians intend to kill," was the theme for the Homecoming football game against the Highland Park Giants, and the Indians didn't disappoint anyone as they ambushed the Giants 21-15. Despite the cold temperatures, a large crowd turned out for the game.

From the outset, the game was one exciting play after another. Johnny Perperas' 47 yard run set up an early Indian touchdown. He scored again in the second quarter, giving the Indians a 14-0 halftime lead. The Giants closed in on the Indians after the half, and the outcome was in doubt until the very end. The Indians played a superb defense twice in the last three minutes of the game, keeping the Giants from crossing the goal line, and setting the spirit for the weekend's final event, the traditional Homecoming Dance.

Are you kidding? Those guys will kill me!

"Celebrate Me Home", SAB's designated homecoming dance theme, introduced a series of varied events, both social and athletic. Crowned King and Queen a few nights before at the annual Twilight Pep Rally were Allan Keller and Liz Kogen. After the great win of the Indians, everyone was cheerful, happy, and ready to dance to the "Brass Accent's" great music.

The guys wore suits, but many of the girls went all out and wore knickers, skirts, or gauchos, accessorized by metallic shoes, flashy belts, and shiny purses. The Student Activity Board, who sponsored the dance, contributed with the super decorating of the gym. Balloons were everywhere, and those who went to the wall would find balloons with their individual names and their date's to keep as a remembrance of the "Celebrate Me Home" homecoming.

COLLEGE NIGHT

Students decide which college is for them.

"Now is the time to begin to think seriously about which college I would like to attend." This remark was made by senior Bonnie Kanter after attending this year's College Night on September 23. Over 200 colleges and universities were represented at College Night This year. College bound juniors and seniors were able to walk around the different booths that were displayed throughout the gymnasium and cafeteria.

Some of the larger universities occupied classrooms and held informative sessions throughout the course of the evening. Students received pamphlets and brochures from the various representatives. Junior Lisa Grass said, "I liked the wide variety of colleges that were represented at College Night. This helped me to find the colleges that specialize in what I want to study." All in all, College Night, sponsored by the guidance department, proved to be a worthwhile, informative experience.

The Frosh-Soph Mixer, sponsored by the Sophomore Class Cabinet, promoted the theme of making new acquaintances and of just plain having fun. Although the annual mixer did not receive enough publicity to attract a sizeable amount of students, as was the case in previous mixers, it still sparked the spirit between this year's freshman and sophomore classes. Several new friendships were even kindled before the night was through.

and by the end of the night we had gathered into our group a total of ten people whom we had just met at the mixer. Everyone acted as though they had known each other for a long time," exclaimed freshman Caryn Brownings. The mixer was held in the main and side gyms and had various types of recreation set up for the students. Such activities included volleyball and basketball. These games, along with others like it, helped make the night a memorable one.

Open House was held on Wednesday, October 28. The purpose of Open House was to give the parents and teachers a chance to get to know each other. It also familiarized many of the parents with the modular system, which they knew nothing about. The idea was to run through a day of school, but instead of mods' being fifteen minutes long, they lasted for only five minutes.

During free periods and study halls parents were able to visit the cafeteria and eat popcorn, doughnut holes, and apple juice, while enjoying the Niles West String Band. The cafeteria was decorated in orange and black for the evening in honor of Halloween. Orchesis performed in the contest gym at 8:15 and 9:15. Those free at corresponding times were able to go and watch them perform. Art students were also demonstrating their skills for those interested. Open House was a profitable experience for all involved.

Senior assembly, held on October 29, was a first for Niles West. This assembly was held by the seniors, and for the seniors so that they could recognize the accomplishments of their peers. Leaders from almost every area of extracurricular activities, ranging from soccer team to Science-Fiction Fantasy Club were honored. Many Niles West Seniors got a chance to hear their names as well as the names of many of their friends as they were read off by seniors Lauri Feldman and Bonnie Kanter. Rita Stewart, director of student services, spoke about different colleges. Mr. Erickson also spoke at the assembly.

The band played at this event, and the seniors got a glimpse of one of the scenes of this year's Pow Wow, "What Ever Happened to the Class of '71?". The sponsors for this event, Mr. Antes, and Mr. Stein were pleased with the success of the assembly. "I was pleased that we were able to give recognition to all senior activity leaders. It was gratifying to see students applauding their peers." This comment was made by co-sponsor, Mr. Stein. The success of this event was overwhelming, and we hope the senior assembly will become one of the many traditions of Niles West.

Pow Wow is the student written and directed play that is put on every year. This year's title was "What Ever Happened to the Class of '71?" The show really answered the question which drew a full house both Friday and Saturday night. It began with high school graduation which continued on to the planning of their ten year reunion. The production was an absolute success.

Wows because not only was it a talent show with great dance numbers and a lot of humor, but it had a definite storyline. The plot was written by seniors Beth Silverman and Todd Kloster, choreography by Sue Rabin and Shari Watts, and directed by Mark Shellist and Debbie Rich. The show ended with a dance number to "Alive Again", which showed great scenes and fantastic choreography.

Children's Theatre presented "The Wizard of Oz." This musical adventure took place on December 4 and 5; special performances were given on December 3. Senior Amy Marschak charmed the audience with her portrayal of Dorothy. The roles of Scarecrow, Tin Woodman, and Cowardly Lion were played by Sheldon Silverman, Mike Resnick, and Mike Albert, respectively. Senior Marcia Bezanis portrayed the bad witch, Belinda. The roles of the good witches, Melinda and Glinda were played by Susan Rabin and Gloria Camilli.

The orchestra for "The Wizard of Oz," conducted by Senior Joel Sucherman, added much energy to the show. For the third consecutive year, Cynthia Philbin directed Children's Theatre. She was assisted by Jerry Strange. "I sincerely believe that the production of "The Wizard of Oz" was a worthwhile experience not only for myself, but for the actors, and most important of all, the "little ones" in the audience. It is something that will stay alive in everyone's minds, always." This comment was made by director Cindy Philbin.

February 5 and 6 were the dates for this year's Orchesis dance show, "Steppin' Out." The show provided a wide variety of dances, ranging from jazz to tap. Solos as well as duets and larger group dances were presented in new, innovative styles. Costumes for "Steppin' Out" were equally as creative as the dances. The Niles West Band provided the music for some of the dances.

"I really enjoyed seeing 'Steppin Out'. It was an original and exciting presentation." This comment was made by junior Wendy Brandwein. Many of the dances were choreographed by the dancers themselves. A few, however, were choreographed by Lori Seffren, the Orchesis sponsor. Orchesis member Betsey Gerstein said, "We all put in a great deal of work to produce one of the best shows ever. The best part of it is that we all had a fun time doing it!"

Tryouts for the musical "Grease" were held on December 14 - 17. It was directed by Mr. Bob Johnson with Sari Rubin as assistant director and Lori Seffren as choreographer. Rehearsals were held six days a week. Cast members learned to work together to produce the final big hit. The cast consisted of about seventeen main characters with many extras to help with the dancing and singing of the play.

Because the cast was so small, members had to concentrate on their part very intensely so as to convey each role to their audience. Some days were spent just singing, dancing, or acting. Other days were a combination of all three. The effort that was put into the play definitely showed a stupendous production. As Michelle Gorchow put it, "To work together as one, is to succeed as a whole."

This year's musical, "Grease", although it had a realistic plot, turned out to be fantastic. It was put on March 11, 12, and 13th with a senior citizens' performance on March 10th. Both cast and audience thoroughly enjoyed the presentation. "Grease's" cast consisted of many members recently introduced to acting. Although old members were still present, it was a great, new experience for many people.

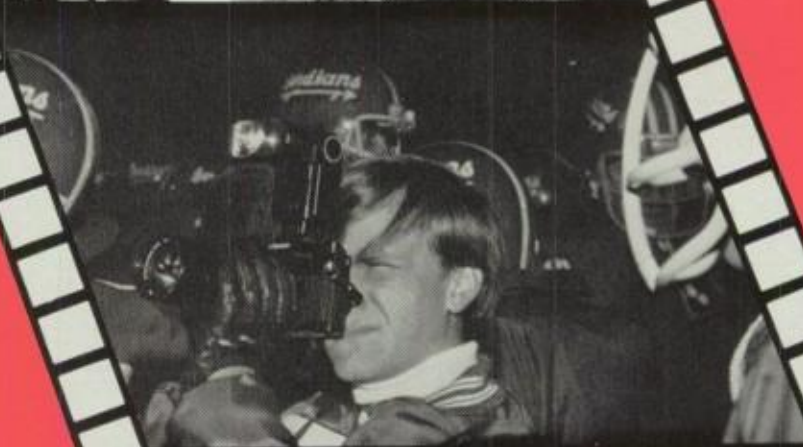

"I saw the movie three times and I loved seeing the play," said sophomore Ellyn Friedman. Debbie Havdala commented, "A wop-bob-a-loop-bop a-wop-bam-boom." The final product proved to be a smashing success.

The purpose of the National Honor Society (N.H.S.) is to bring about a desire for learning, to motivate a will to give service, to promote leadership, and to inspire the growth of character in students of Niles West. Membership in N.H.S. is based on four areas which include the above (scholarship, leadership, service, and character). Only juniors and seniors may become members. Also, each prospective member must receive ten recommendations from the faculty, must be involved in at least two different Niles West sponsored activities per year, and must have at least a 3.4 grade point average.

The National Honor Society has been quite active. On September 13, N.H.S. held a picnic at Proesel Park in Lincolnwood for members to get acquainted with the club. As member Al Zemsky put it, "This first event helped N.H.S. get off to a great start." Other activities which benefited the community were a canned food drive, a toy drive, a taffy apple sale, entertainment for the less fortunate, and a Crusade of Mercy fund raiser. Members of AFS hold fundraisers to raise money for various activities, such as visiting museums, or having an International Pot Luck Dinner. They always have a good time, no matter what they do. Senior Linda Svrcek stated, "AFS provides students with an ideal opportunity to gain better understanding of their own cultures." Senior Sandra Martinez also expressed her feelings about AFS: "It's nice that people from other countries can come here to experience the American lifestyle. They can do this through various activities and field trips to Chicago and the outlying areas." This year, Niles West was fortunate enough to host a girl from Yugoslavia, Teodora Bukvic, who said, "AFS is a great organization which allows you to see different countries, to learn about them, their people; ... and you learn straight from experience, not from a book."

Which club makes our school full of spirit? That's it! Student Activities Board - otherwise known as SAB - is the organization that plans almost all of the school socials and athletic events. One successful example was this year's Homecoming game and dance, named "Celebrate Me Home." The gym was decorated with many colored balloons and the band that played was "The Brass Accent." The members met everyday and planned some exciting events such as the November Social and the Mini 500. "Our intention is to restore some of the fun and school spirit that the dullness of everyday classes takes away," comments President Lauri Feldman.

The club, sponsored by Mrs. Korol for the second year in a row, enjoyed much success. The members got a chance to see and discuss films. In addition to this, they listened to guest lecturers and went on field trips. The club usually met on Wednesday after school in the health center. One major accomplishment of the Medical Careers Club was their campaign against smoking.

The co-presidents were Robin Glassner and Maria Leberis. Other officers were Elisa Leberis- Vice-President, Sue Kang-Secretary, and Janice Gurvey-Treasurer. The Medical Careers Club helped members prepare themselves for their future.

With the addition of 15 Apple II personal computers, the membership of the Computer Club has doubled. One unusual fact of this club is they did not have officers until the second semester.

"We didn't have any carry over members from last year, so we started everyone off on an equal basis," said sponsor Stanley Witzendorf.

"Computer Club is highly individual," he added, "requiring high motivation and ambition. Computer Club provides an opportunity for students to exercise their computer obsession beyond the normal school day. Members have the opportunity to compete in a variety of computer contests."

In recent years, the Niles West math team has been one of our most successful teams. Last year finishing 3rd in the state was not satisfying enough; this year their goal was first place. Most of the leading mathematicians from last year were back again.

The team participated in various competitions on both the state and national level. They also held math intramurals which helped to prepare the team for tournaments. President Karen Lee expressed her enthusiasm for the team by stating, "We compete in about six different leagues. Our performances have been steadily improving and we're currently in first place after two meets. We also have the dubious distinction of being the noisiest, rowdiest team in the North Suburban Math League." Other officers of the club were: Vice-President Mark Cagan, Secretary Jim Krozel, and Treasurer Mike Korey. The general sponsor of this team was Mr. Dennis Filliman.

Debate is a series of events of speeches designed to win an advantage and a decision through the use of reasoning and evidence. There are three levels of debaters; novice, junior varsity, and varsity.

Each 2-person team meets with the coaches on different days. The debaters are made up of two-day tournaments which take place on Fridays and Saturdays.

The debate team traveled to Glenbrook North Invitational, Glenbrook South Invitational, the Northwestern University tournament, the Illinois State University, the District tournament, and the State tournament.

Debater, David Kahn says, "Debate helps you speak in front of large audiences." Not only do the debaters participate in the action, but so do the coaches. The coaches are: assistant coach Jeff Wortman and head coach Sandy Berkowitz. Also participating in many of the debates is president, Julia Bienias. Coach, Sandy Berkowitz states, "I think that the team will do well and learn to enjoy the activity." President, Julia Bienias affirms, "I think it affords students with an outlook for personal expression, and improves communication skills, research skills, and logical argumentation."

Snap! You're on candid camera! The photography club is designed for students interested in the art of photography. The people involved learn how to use the camera properly, the different techniques for taking pictures, and how to develop pictures in a dark room. The club has a new sponsor, Mr. Beeftink, who comments, "I am not very knowledgeable about photography, but I have been learning. So far it has been a very pleasureable and rewarding experience." One of the club's projects has been working on photos for the faculty lounge. The members of the club have taken pictures of faculty members and interesting areas in school. If photographers are needed for anything, they can be found in the photography club.

The credit for arranging school programs can be given to the members of the Forums Club. It is a small club of students that discuss what types of programs and speakers would arouse the interests of all the students. They have written many letters to bring in people that are involved in the media, sports, politics, etc. One program that they have dealt with is gun control. Mr. McMahon has been the sponsor of this club for one-and-a-half years. He states, "It's a program designed to stimulate students' interest by arranging programs and speakers to discuss topics that supplement normal classroom activities." The Forums Club has existed for over ten years and hopes it will last many more years, for the programs they have been able to arrange are very worthwhile.

For the most part, however, these voices remain faceless like the great Oz behind his silver curtain. However, these girls were finally cornered one day and questioned on life as a P.A. announcer . . .

When asked she likes to announce, Carol Netzel replied, "It's almost like being in charge of school for a brief period of time; everyone listens because they want to know what's happening."

P.A. announcements can be requested by anyone but require a faculty member's signature. Co-announcer Brenda Hill commented "No, we really don't make up the announcement, we just read what we see." Both girls are considering careers in broadcasting. "This activity," states Brenda, "helps me learn to enunciate more clearly . . . and besides, we get out of homeroom!"

The Aeronautics club might have been "one step beyond" as the major projects were adding a second stage to the giant nine foot rocket, Polok III, aerial combat matches, and rocket assisted flights. A balloon race was also planned as a fund raiser.

People join Aeronautics club for different reasons. Aron Feinberg, Vice-president, joined because, the F.A.A. won't give me my pilots license so I resort to flying model airplanes," while David Schwarz, club President, said seriously, "It gives me a sense of security: after all, if marauding pygmies launch a surprise attack on Niles West, what other club could protect itself with A.M.M.'s (Air to Midget Missiles) launched from a balsa wood fighter squadron the Ushers Club?"

The sponsor of the club, and the main reason for the club's existence today, Mr. Rogoski, had this to add: "I'm into aeronautics because I'm involved in the aviation scene. Both civilian and military. I'm not going to get a license because I'm just happy to read about planes and fly models. I don't think I could be trusted in the air".

If you have never gone fossil hunting, or gathering environmental samples to study plant and animals micro-organisms, the Ecology Club could give you these opportunities. Club sponsor Gerald Firak stressed that the club is not involved in the recycling of old material as the word "ecology" connotes. "It's an excellent opportunity for students to get out of the classroom and experience unusual aspects of nature," he added.

A major activity of these students of nature is the restoration of an authentic Illinois prairie, members annually collect seeds to add to the variety of plants already raised on the prairie. The group also frequently takes field trips to such areas as the Indiana Dunes, starved Rock State Park and Volo Bog in Volo, Illinois.

Four year member Pat Duda commented "It's a shame that more people don't take the initiative to join our club. The trips are really fun and you learn a lot about environment ecology." So for all you closet ecologists out there, this club is definitely worth further investigation.

Art Council is the most active, creative, and exciting club at Niles, West, "claims Gary Davis, when asked to comment on the club he has been sponsoring for the past three years. Indeed, it is hard to argue that statement when all the club's activities are described. Unusual projects such as visiting Chicago's lesser known art galleries, (along with the popular Art Institute) and painting the bottom of the Lincolnwood Hyatt House pool have previously kept the members busy.

As a result of their pool-painting venture, the members were asked to design and carve pumpkins for a Halloween display at Skokie's Reel People restaurant. The group also completed a wall size mural in the film study room that depicts the great cinema heroes and heroines of all time. Another full size mural was completed in the main hallway where the student lounge had previously existed.

Two-year member Joe Lee mentioned, "You don't necessarily have to be good in art. I'm getting extra art experience, and the chance to work with other art forms, such as designing original jewelry." Publicity chairman Adele Rose added, "On field trips there are many chances to be inspired and to learn different techniques; I love art, and plan to make a career out of it." Well, Mr. Davis, your claim just might be valid!

Monkey Business

Kiwanis' Educational Youth (Key Club) is a branch of the Kiwanis which provides services to the community. They participate in fund raisers and other activities which bring money or aid to worthwhile projects. In September, they helped the Kiwanis "can" on the Kiwanis Peanut Day. Funds went to help the underprivileged in this community. Thanksgiving-o-grams were unique because they gave students a chance to write to friends at Niles North. On this particular activity, Key Club raised $270 to combat spastic paralysis. Also, a successful canned food drive donated 250 cans to the Salvation Army.

They Key Club helped many other charitable causes including: canning for juvenile diabetes, distributing medical information throughout the area, hosting a Christmas party for retarded children, coordinating a joint school blood drive, visiting area nursing homes, organizing a park clean-up project, and sponsoring numerous other activities and fund raising drives which raised thousands of dollars. For their efforts in community service, November 8 through November 14 was proclaimed Key Club week throughout Skokie.

The club consisted of Niles West and Niles North members. Key Club met on Wednesday nights at 7:30 in Niles East. Vice-President Mike Korey stated, "The Key Club's guiding philosophy could be summarized in the words of Albert Einstein, 'Only a life lived for others is a life worthwhile.'"

The Niles West DECA Club is intended for students who are interested in marketing and distributive occupations. Mr. Darryl Smith is the sponsor of this contemporary business club. DECA stands for Distributive Education Clubs of America. Students participate in a program of instruction which prepares them for competition with other schools in marketing, management, and related subjects. The members of this club started competing in February. Membership is open to juniors and seniors who are enrolled in Distributive Education classes.

Concentration, that's the name of the game. Members of the Chess Club, sponsored by Mr. Holz, have to have a great deal of concentration in order to succeed at the game. Also each individual team member has his own strategy by which he plays. Senior Jay Zeff states, "The Chess Club offers two advantages for its members; one advantage is that it gives Chess players an opportunity to practice their skills. Students can come after school and play chess with other students. The second advantage is interscholastic competition. Twice a month the Chess Club challenges other schools in its conference, with the best ranking teams competing in the state invitational in April." Are you wondering how well our Chess Team is doing? Jay told us, "We now have a record of one win and one loss." Why don't you try your hand at Chess next year?

The Science Fiction and Fantasy Club enjoyed another year of promoting science fiction among club members. Lead by senior Karin Goldstein, president, the club of 15+ members frequently explored the Adler Planetarium.

The sci-fi'ers continued to play the popular Dungeon and Dragons game (D&D) with Dungeon master Mitch Gitelman, junior, setting up the fantasy world where anything can and does happen.

Sponsor Stan Jones lead the club to different worlds consisting of enjoying the annual showing of "Hardware Wars" and "The Day the Earth Stood Still", or escaping into one of the many science fiction/fantasy books from their science fiction library, or entering a strategic D&D game. Whatever the sci-fi activity, these enthusiasts have explored it.

The Freshmen Class Cabinet is for groups of freshmen interested in promoting social and school spirit. These freshmen get a chance to represent other freshmen students. In other words, they get to plan activities for the freshmen class. English teacher Miss Nash sponsored the club.

The Freshmen Class Cabinet, led by President Cristy Guenther, Vice-President Jean Chen, Secretary Kelly Shell, and Treasurer Sheryl Ferdman, was very active. The first event was the building of their Homecoming float. That was followed by bake sales, sucker sales, and a toy drive. The toy drive was held from December 7 until December 16, and toys went to retarded children of the Dixon State School. This group of industrious students worked to help both their classmates and others.

During this school year these active sophomores could be seen setting up the Frosh-Soph Mixer, organizing the class ring sale, delivering mail-a-grams, serving coffee on teacher appreciation day, baking cookies for a bake sale, and raising money for the prom they will sponsor next year.

Sena Sturgis, the vice-president of the cabinet, feels the officers were dedicated and in junior and senior year the cabinet will continue to be a success!

Damian Moshak states, "It is a good feeling to be able to represent your class. There is always spirit even when we had to push our float in the homecoming parade because it broke."

Students who elect to join Junior Cabinet, have the exciting opportunity to plan and execute the annual Junior-Senior Prom. Sponsored by Mrs. Horwitz and Administrator Mr. Lorenz, the year begins with get-acquainted activities including participation in the Homecoming Parade. Officers are elected to organize and guide the members of the cabinet. Early planning to make reservations for location and entertainment require bi-weekly meetings during the first twelve weeks of school. Students discuss and choose theme, song, and decorations. In order to help defray the cost of this rather expensive event, members of Junior Cabinet participate in several fund-raising activities. The officers elected for 1981-82 Junior Cabinet were: President Judy Rusch, vice-President, Sheila Poet, Secretary Lisa DeCook, and Treasurer Marci Gintzler.

The Senior Class Cabinet planned and co-ordinated all senior activities. They began the year by building a homecoming float using the theme "Giants prepare your will; Indians intend to kill." From school activities they then focused on actively aiding the community. Their service project was a Christmas Party at the Jane Addams Hull House. Three bake sales helped finance this venture to raise money for a senior class gift, and T-shirts were printed containing the names of all graduating Seniors. Profits from these sales enabled the students to purchase a gift that was presented at Graduation, which made an outstanding closing for the senior year. Led by advisor Roger Stein, President Bonnie Kanter, Vice-President Carol Clarke, and Secretary-Treasurer Tracey Miller. "The enthusiastic cabinet reflected the spirit of the class of '82," comments President Bonnie Kanter.

The motto of the German Club is "Wir sind die Besten!" which means "We are the best!". President Helena Gabriel stated, "Our goal is to allow members to experience German cultures. The president, Lisa Tomoleoni, says, "Thespians is very im-portant to me. It's a living, learning, wonderful experience. Since I've joined the department, I've learned more about myself and others. Theatre lets us be happy and make others happy. It's a life-giving experience." Another Thespi-an, Bruce Claver, who is also the treasurer adds, "Theatre is something everyone must experience, at least once in their lives. The thrill of being backstage as, well as on, is entertainment in itself. I think it's great!!"

Singing In The Rain

Westones is the singing and dancing "up tempo" group of the choral music department. They meet bi-weekly on Wednesdays and Fridays to learn music and cho-reography. Their major activity this year was accompanying the band and orchestra on the annual tour this spring to Denver, Colora-do. The sucker sale fund-raiser was a huge success thanks to the help of the Westones Board: Elissa Schwartz-president, Sari Rubin-vice-president, Beth Silverman-sec-retary, Marcia Bezanis-treasurer.

Strike Up The Band

"Although each year means changes and many new faces, the students who play in the West bands are never disappointing. They represent the highest expectations of our school and community," comments Dr. Groeling, the founding band director. He has kept the bands going strong for the past twenty-five years. Much credit is due to this man.

The band accomplishes a great deal throughout the year including travel to many different places (such as Denver, Col. for their spring tour). Performing in pops concert, giving a concert for the junior high school bands, accompanying Pow Wow, this year's musical Grease, and the Orchesis dance show have been some of their accomplishments.

The dynamic jumpy music that the football and basketball fans listen to at half time is played by the Marching band, which consists of students from Concert band and Intermediate band. Both Marching and Concert bands practice on their band class time.

Over ninety percent of the band students take private lessons on their own time. The band teaches individual musicians how to participate in a group fashion. Marla Friend, the Band Board President, expresses her feelings about the band, "I feel it's a fantastic experience for anyone and the kids are fantastic to work with. It demands time, but the self-satisfaction is a reward that is worth it."

What type of music is entertaining, great to dance to, and fun to play? If your answer is jazz music, you're correct. Our school jazz band has allowed many people to enjoy jazz throughout the school year. The band has performed at various school functions such as basketball games and open house for parents and has accompanied Orchestras on tour. Many times, the band has played by requests at various places in the community such as nursing homes.

Band students rehearse three days a week which gives them a chance to read and study their music. Frequent rehearsals provide the variation of interpretation in their lively concerts. Anyone who can expertly play a jazz instrument such as the saxophone, guitar, and trumpet, can join the band.

Mr. Groeling, who has been sponsor of the jazz band for several years, comments, "I think, basically, that jazz is a very significant art of music, and schools recognize this fact, offering students the chance to play in jazz style and learn jazz literature."

Violins, violas, cellos, basses . . . what do these remind you of? Orchestra! The Orchestra has had a very busy schedule to follow. In November, the string orchestra had its first concert of the season. The music performed ranged all the way from the Baroque to the Romantic period. In December, the full orchestra combined with the band and the choral groups for a Christmas festival. The Orchestra also played for the Wizard of Oz production and the Orchesis Dance Company. The May Spring Festival also featured the orchestra.

Some Orchestra members competed in a number of competitions. The IMEA, Illinois Music Educators Association, is one such competition. This year, thirty-nine schools competed, and only the top musicians from each school were allowed to participate. Eight members of our orchestra qualified for this competition. The IHSA, Illinois High School Association, is another competition in which Orchestra participates. IHSA regularly features solo competition, as well as quartets and other ensembles. Those musicians who placed in the District Orchestra participated in the All-State Orchestra, which was held in Springfield on February 4-7. The higher ranked musicians from each district were selected to play with the students from every other district in the state. Senior Nancy Wegener, a member of the Orchestra for four years, stated, "Being in the Concert Orchestra for four years has proven to be the most valued and educational experience of my High School years."

Out of all the clubs, "the leaders are probably the least recognized, yet they are greatly appreciated by the Physical Education staff," commented Miss Heeren when asked about the program. Leaders are a group of talented and hard-working sophomores, juniors, and seniors who help out during P.E. classes. Besides leading exercises, and demonstrating techniques in the classes they "lead", the leaders also attend a daily gym class made up of only leaders. This policy is very time consuming and in order to lessen the time commitment, "We evaluated our strengths and weaknesses last spring; this year's juniors and seniors came up with new ideas that we were able to implement," added Miss Heeren.

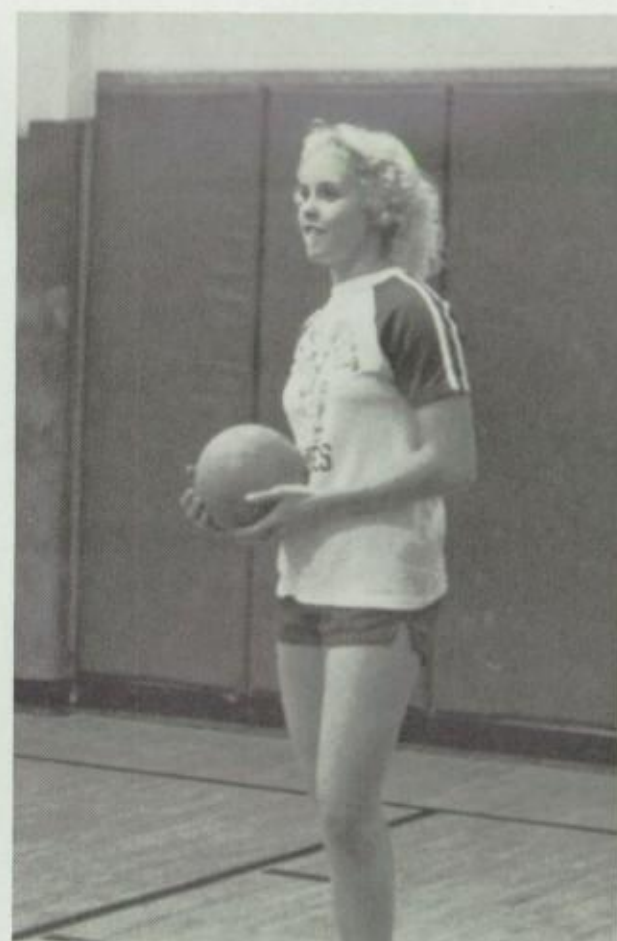

One of the results was a policy which gave the girls a six weeks break in their regular leaders class; the girls were happy with this change. Senior Margaret Luncsford commented, "Having a free period instead of the normal class made it easier to be enthusiastic in the class you lead for. You could concentrate your efforts on one class instead of two." When asked why she was a leader, junior Geri Masterton replied, "I like teaching others and helping them to learn, it's rewarding." With the mod scheduling, there was some question as to whether the program could still exist. Fortunately, scheduling changes were made to accomodate the Leaders, and Niles West is lucky to have the help and spirit the Leaders provide.

Who's got the highest kicks in Niles West? Of course, the Niles West Pom Pon Squad! For halftime enjoyment they performed at every football and basketball game. After taking first place in the AA division at Whitewater, Wisconsin, they practiced two hours a day, five days a week. No wonder they look good!

The Last Hurrah

Who yells the loudest in Niles West? VARSITY CHEERLEADERS! They put many hours of hard work into their cheers. These girls met twice a week after school to perfect their performance. The cheerleaders could be seen at every football and basketball game cheering the Indians to victory. The cheerleaders not only led cheers; they also did skits. One of the craziest and funniest skits was "When you Go to an Indian Game," performed during the Homecoming Pep Assembly. The skit showed the kinds of people who attend the games such as coaches, players, trainers, parents, etc.

"I thought that I wouldn't make it because there were a lot of girls who were good but I tried my best," says Stephanie Resnick.

The busy and hardworking Technical Service Club has the responsibility of serving all school assemblies and rentals, which are clients who use the school for assemblies. Approximately thirty students in this club set up the microphones, work the lights, hire speakers to come to our school and, if there is a film being shown, work the projectors. Miss Philbin, who began this club two years ago, is the current sponsor. "It's been a true experience," stated Miss Philbin, "and the kids have learned a lot of techniques. They are very professional." Some of the clients the Technical Service Club has had are: the Mr. America Body Building Contest, fashion shows, and a Russian dance troupe. For each assembly they serve, two students volunteer to help out; that's just one way the Technical Service Club members accomplish their main goal: satisfying all their clients.

Although previous Guard Clubs have been more tightly organized many people deserve credit for the time and help, which current clubs have been given. The group consisted of people who taught grade schoolers and preschoolers how to swim on Saturday mornings. Guard Club was largely made up of the girls and boys swim teams.

All who participated proved to be very cooperative; The guys kept track of records and timed for the girls during their season, as the girls did for them during the winter.

As Lory Roller said, "It's fun if you don't get thrown in before or after the meet." Also Chris Martin commented, "It is fun and you have a good time." Harriet Hoffman also says, "I just wanted to be involved in the swim team in some manner. So I joined timers."

West Word, the school newspaper, is sponsored by Mr. Jerome Orr. All 25 staff members contribute to the paper, which is distributed bi-monthly. Throughout the school year, two special issues are printed. "The Winter Holiday" issue and "The Special Senior" issue. Some of the people that make West Word possible are Editor-in-Chief Ross Lirtzman, News Editor Tracey Miller, Editorial Director Debra Havdala, Features Editor Brenda Moss, and Sports Editor Rich Cohen.

Rich Cohen says, "This was one of the most creative years for West Word. We were more efficient in putting out the paper. As a result, the students seem to be responsive and enjoy the paper more." Debra Havdala adds, "The staff learns so much from each issue, and the quality of West Word is always improving. How would you like to be able to see dramatic productions for free, and at the same time help others? If you join the Ushers' Club, sponsored by Mrs. Klinger, you can do just that. Members of the Ushers' Club pass out programs for the performances, and they are also responsible for seating individuals who may be looking for a seat. After the show has started, however, they may go in and watch the show themselves. Marianne Hathy, who ushered for this year's first dramatic production, Pow-Wow, stated, "Ushering for Pow-Wow was fun because I was able to meet people of all age groups." President of the Ushers' Club, Robin Glassner, stated, "It's a really fun club because it doesn't meet regularly, so it doesn't take up a lot of your time. We just meet once before each event to decide who 'works' on what night. Ushering is fun because you come in contact with a lot of people, and it's a great way to help them and still be able to enjoy the show yourself. I'm glad I joined!" Betty Dassow has this to say about ushering for the children's play: "Wearing the costumes for the Wizard of Oz was fun. We dressed up as animals, and all the kids loved it when they got to shake our hands."

THE COMPETITION

Semi-Tough

Following success in a summer passing league, the 1981 Varsity Football squad entered summer practices with great expectations for the upcoming season. However, injuries and inconsistencies plagued the tribe throughout their 2-7 campaign.

In the opening contest the Indians continually battled back from adversity before dropping a thriller to highly touted Aurora East 29-21. The team did not recover from the opening contest until the fourth ballgame of the season when they defeated Highland Park 21-15 before an enthusiastic homecoming crowd. The only other Indian victory was a 35-6 thrashing of the Maine West Warriors in the final ballgame of the season.

Coaches Dick Casten, Bill Zook, and Ron Shane have this to say about the sophomore team. "At the beginning of the season we were optimistic about our chances to have a winning season. However, everything that could go wrong, went wrong. We lost several key players because of illness and injury, thus forcing many players to play out of position. It wasn't until the 8th and 9th games of the season that we finally had all of our players; consequently, we played two excellent football games."

Victory

Expectations were high as the Soccer Season began. The six returning lettermen and former J.V. players knew it was their turn for a run at the state title. As freshmen, this group of seniors was undefeated. Three years later, being older and more experienced, the team gave Coach Brennan high hopes.

After the first ten games, the team had lost only once. It looked as if Brennan's "dreams" might come true. The strikers then faced the second ranked team in the state, New Trier. Although the Indians dominated the game and had numerous scoring opportunities, they were shut out. This loss caused a late season slump. The team won only two of their last six games and were eliminated from the state tournament in the sub-sectional final. The highlight of the season was a tie with state finalist Glenbrook North. The Indians were the only team to shut out the Spartans all season.

Next year, Brennan has to do some major rebuilding. The replacement of Improvement is a major ingredient in success. The J.V. Soccer Team epitomizes this statement. During their sophomore year, they won only one game. This season their 5-5-1 record shows the results of hard work. Timely goals by S. Harris and strong mid-field play by V. Stamos gave the team stability. Confidence was another factor which helped this group of juniors. They were never blown-out; they were almost always assured of at least two goals a game. Team speed is lacking, but next season improved ball skills should make the Indians very competitive.

Kick And Run

The 1981 Sophomore Soccer Team enjoyed a winning season and a record of 8 wins, 6 losses and 1 tie. After an early loss to Barrington the team seldom forgot the required formula for success. By concentrating on aggressive defense and quick, precise passing, the players became a cohesive unit and won their next four games by large margins. This ability to quickly apply that which is learned will help many of these players blend in with the varsity caliber of play in 1982.

Highlights of the season were the victory over a fine New Trier team and the special recognition given to Barry Margolin, Bob Straub, Seesun Yoo, Dave Hahn, Yung Kim and Bill Numrich. These players were asked to suit up for two of the Varsity subsectional games.

The Freshman "A" soccer team's record of 2 wins, 8 losses and 3 ties did not reflect the team member's individual talent. Brad Kolar, fullback, said, "Even though we didn't do too well this year, with a little work we will improve." Coach Porter backed Kolar by saying, "I really think that their ability will become more evident the longer they play."

Outstanding players included goalie Jim Griletz, halfbacks Dan Arendt, Dan Gabel, and fullback Brad Kolar.

The Freshman "B" soccer team gained valuable experience and showed improvement throughout the season culminating with a 3-8 record.

Coach Klebba said, "A lot of players had the right stuff to make it in soccer at Niles West." Team leaders included, Colin Lawler, Bill Heelan, Jon Tatoes, Andy Lawler.

Spike It

The Varsity girls' volleyball team had a very inconsistent season. At times they played really well, and at other times they played poorly. Their overall record was not indicative of the talent possessed by this team led by Captain Anne Steurmer and Co-Captain Becky Schnell. Anne Steurmer said, "The team didn't do as well as we expected, but the important thing was that we had fun." The Varsity team has many exciting three-game matches against Lane Tech, Waukegan East, and Glenbrook North. They had an overall season of 4 wins and 10 losses.

The J.V. Volleyball Team had a very disappointing season under their new coach Mr. Gene Earl. Even though the girls didn't win many of their games, they showed a lot of talent. They had three very exciting matches against Maine East, Glenbrook South, and Highland Park. Mr. Earl commented, "the girls learned a lot about playing volleyball, cooperation, dedication, and striving for goals." The captains were Helene Cohan and Phyllis Milewski.

The freshman team had a tremendous season under their coach Mrs. Sopocy. The freshmen worked very hard, and the work paid off. They had a slow beginning, but then won four games straight against Maine West, Evanston, Maine South, and Waukegan West. They ended up third in conference, and first in their division with an overall record of 9 wins and 7 losses.

Love Story

Coach Matlak characterized the tennis team's season as a "year for rebuilding". Overall, there was a sense of oneness and team spirit, but a lack of dedication to the sport resulted in their two-and-ten record, the victories being over Maine East (conference) and Waukegan East. Bright stars included seniors Lisa Cohan and Janelle Emalfarb, and junior Debbie Lasser. Experience was gained, however, and only four members will graduate from the squad, leaving a good core for next year's varsity.

Although an attitude similar to the varsity's plagued the J.V. team, there is plenty of latent talent in the lower ranks. An attained objective for the team was identifying strengths and weaknesses in individuals in order to develop a more competent squad for next year. Coach Winans urges competition over the summer to hone the team's skills to a competitive edge.

Marathon Man

The Boys Varsity Cross-Country team, coached by Pat Savage finished the season with a dual-meet record of 5 wins and 7 losses.

The enthusiastic and high morale of the squad helped bring outstanding and inspired hard work by Junior Alex Paul, and Senior Paul Wilm.

During the summer a determined Mike Lee ran 1000 miles to train for this season and future marathons.

"The Niles West Invite" was considered by far the best race run, because our team took first place, which is considered a "perfect score", and a very high achievement.

The Freshman Cross-Country team experienced a very disappointing season, but did place 4th out of 8 in the "Niles West Invite". The Sophomores individually and as a team had a very fine season.

The Sophomores finished third in the conference, and placed 5 wins and 3 losses in dual meets. Jim Woodier and Dan Sullivan had very impressive seasons because they were chosen all-conference, and led the Sophomores in most of their races. Freshman Eddie Perlmutter accomplished many of his goals this season, first of all he ran most of his races with the Sophomores, and also Eddie came through the finish line with many exceptional times.

The Sophomores best dual-meet run was against New Trier H.S., when they won 27-28. Jim Woodier, Dan Sullivan, and Fresh. Eddie Perlmutter made the largest contribution to that thrilling victory.

Blue Lagoon

The girls swimming team improved its record over previous years. After going winless last season, this year's team won five meets and moved from last to fifth place in their conference. The girls accomplished this by working hard in two-a-day practices throughout the season, and by fine leadership from coach Larson and new assistant coach Whelan.

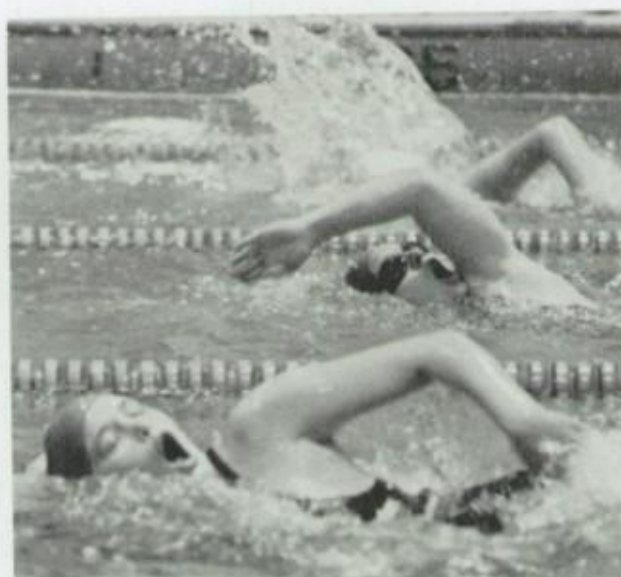

Junior swimmers Jenny Cohen and Sabine Plonus set new school records in the backstroke and 50 yd. freestyle, and the relay team of Sabine Plonus, Barb Buckley, Kim Jochem, and Arleen Milbrandt also set a new school record.

Seniors Barb Buckley, Karen Shea, Kim Jochem, Susan Klemm, Vicki Heller, and captain Shirley Daniel formed the backbone of the team.

Adding to the swim team's success were the divers. Backed by seniors Bryna Kane and Nancy Meyer, sophomore star Jaqueline Plonus captured eighth place in the district championship.

The girls look forward to more improvement next season. Although the graduating seniors will be missed, many top-quality swimmers will be returning.

Chariots Of Fire

Spectators watch a Cross Country meet outside on a school's back lawn. What do they see? By Golly! It's a . . . well . . . it's . . . a Big Red Blob! Why of course, it is Niles West Girls' Cross Country. The team's theme this year has been just that, the Big Red Blob. It is their nickname for "packing" which has been the team's goal throughout the whole season. The team's Head Coach, Judi Sloan, describes the purpose of packing, "Packing is the ideal way to win a meet in Cross Country. You need five to seven runners that can run together through most of the two mile race. If a team can master that they will do well, especially in the large, important meets".

The girls have had faith in their coach's words. Their dual meet record was 11-0, giving them a first place lead going into the CSL Conference meet. Naturally, they ran away with the meet by 19 points, owning the title

Conference Champs. Four of the team members (Laura Friedlander, Jenny Weiss, Robin Telengater and Jennie Campbell) made the 1981 All-Conference team by placing in the top 14. They won all but one invitational, including their host meet the 24 school Indian Invite. They won districts very easily, advancing them to Sectionals (the first year for Girl's Cross Country). Sectionals was a tough meet, but once again Niles West pulled through. For the second time West was State bound.

The team's goal was reached on November 14, 1981. The Girls placed third out of 24 teams there. Coach Sloan comments on their victory, "Everyone ran the best way that they possibly could, and that, ultimately, was the goal we wanted to achieve at the State meet. The season was near-perfect. It will go down in the Cross Country record books at Niles West".

The Freshman team were beginners in August, the starting of their first year of Niles West Cross Country. But they learned fast. There were five freshmen that stuck out the whole season. They are: Cindy Bychowski, Kris Mittl, Rose Miklaj, Hyo Sil Park and Lisa Reiff. These five girls kept the spirit, of the whole team, going strong. They all tried very hard. Cindy Bychowski was a great asset to the varsity team. She ran in two very important meets helping the varsity secure victories. During the first half of the season the girls ran their races independently, but towards the end of the season they learned to run as a team. They tied for 2nd with Maine West in the J.V. Conference meet. Their accomplishments were tremendous during this first year, considering their lack of experience.

The golf program is definitely on the upswing! The varsity squad had a record of 4 wins and 8 losses. This record sounds disappointing but, in reality, the season was a great success. The team won more matches than any golf squad in recent Niles West history. Junior Peter Joseph paced the team with support from seniors Mike Platt, Tom Rivkin and team captain Rob Moreton.

The highlight of the season was the defeat of Evanston. In this match the Indians set a new course record at the Evanston Community Golf Course. Overall Coach Dennis Hoeppner was very pleased with this season's results.

The Frosh-Soph golf team is building for next year. The Team's 3 wins and 8 losses does not reflect the team's improvement. Steve Kanavos was the team's top golfer. Though he will be on the varsity squad next year, freshman Larry Rivkin and Jeff Krakow will return to form a strong nucleus for the frosh-soph squad. Coach George Galla summed up the season by saying, "I enjoyed the season immensely because of the attitude exemplified by the players."

The Niles West Girls Bowling team had a striking season, they finished in first place in the conference. Five outstanding members of the squad won in the district championship and qualified for state competition. Those five girls were Senior and captain Dawn Winandy, Junior Lynn Shildgen, Sophomore Paige Pawlek, Freshman Kim Kouzoures, and Junior Tracy Miller.

Other fine varsity bowlers were Susan Hughes, Lisa Downey, and Karen Hedberg. Coach Sue Hoffman described the team as a "good group of people", and stated that they should even be a better team next year.

Under first year head coach Emil Capitani, the boy's varsity basketball team did not enjoy a winning season. Coming into the season with high hopes because they were returning to starters from last year's varsity squad in Jack Cohen and Mike Grunfeld, the Indians started off on the wrong foot and never got retracked. Grunfeld played beyond all expectations averaging 17 points a game and was named all-conference. Cohen started the first game but fractured his wrist and was unable to return for the rest of the season.

The team finished last in the Central Suburban League South Conference with a disappointing 3-21 record.

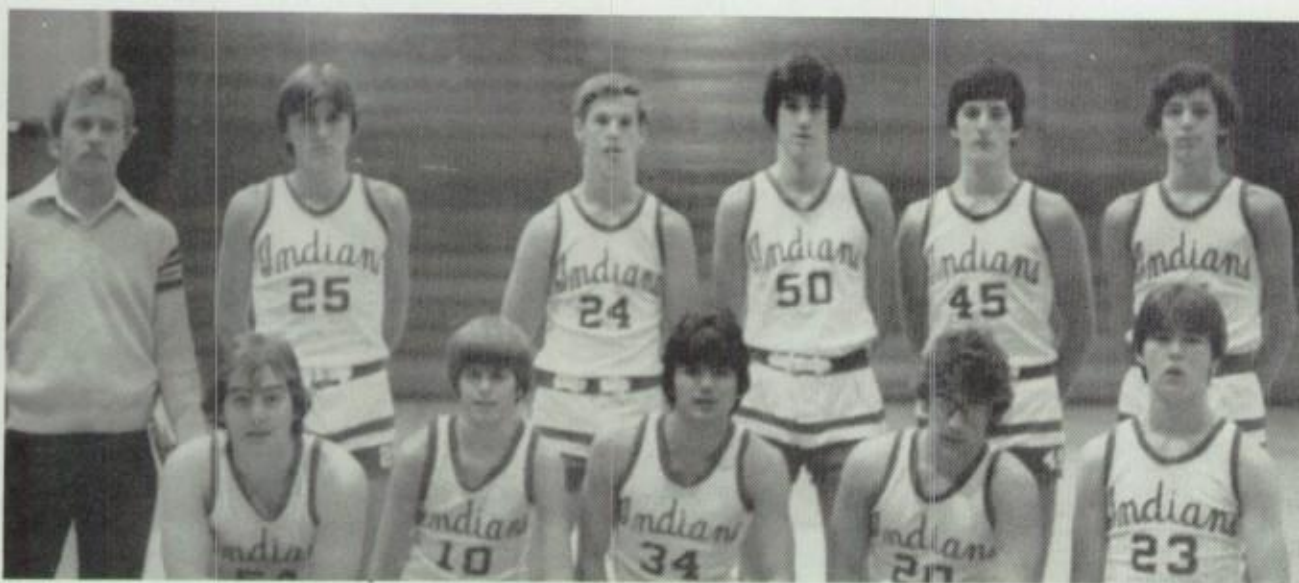

"The squad played well against top-rated teams but we could not pull off any big upsets," said Coach Capitani. "Our lack of overwhelming height and speed were two major reasons we did not fare well," cited Tom Kostoglanis. The whole team agreed that the loss of Cohen was a major factor in the outcome of the season.

The Junior Varsity squad had a very disappointing season. The team suffered from a lack of height and quickness. Despite a record of 2 wins and 7 losses Coach Kiesel was pleased with the teams overall progress. This was his first season as a coach here at West. Juniors, Lee Schaps, Lawrence Asher, and Cory Binstock received some valuable playing time at the Varsity level. This experience will be advantageous for next year's squad who will hopefully turn the tide of Niles West Basketball.

Clockwise from middle left; Ernie Grunfeld lays in an easy two points. Shawn Ridley playing tenacious "D." Lee Schaps shooting a free throw. Tom Kostoglanis and Ernie Grunfeld fight for position under the boards.

Inside Moves

A major shake-up took place this past season in the Niles West basketball program. The coaching staffs were changed at almost all the levels. The Sophomore Team was no exception. Coach Larry Miner was moved up from the Frosh "A" to the sophomore team. The majority of last year's Frosh "A" team played at the sophomore level this past season. These players received a second year of Coach Miner's fine, but demanding, coaching style.

The results of the past season were not very impressive. The team's record was 4 wins and 14 losses, which placed them last in conference. A few of the bright spots on the team were, Joe Rodgers, Steve Roggeman, and Bill Terpinas. These players best exemplified Coach Miner's dedication to hard work.

Next season a few of the boys will be moved up to Varsity Team where some major rebuilding is required. A summer league and basketball camps will help the Sophomores improve the skills that they have. Overall, Coach

Dick Casten was the new Frosh "A" Basketball Coach this past season. Under his leadership the team returned to the basics, practicing defense, shooting, and passing extensively. Although the team's record was a bit disappointing (1-18) a few players stood out, especially J. Dahm and R. Fortman.

The Frosh "B" team's season was more productive than that of the Frosh "A." They improved vastly and their record (3-16) was proof of this fact. Joe Brennan, in his 4th year as coach, enjoyed the season immensely. Outstanding players were M. Ferdman and C. Czernik.

The Deep

It was a long and hard season for the boys' swim team. During the season they compiled a record of 4 wins and 10 losses. Co-Captains, were Jim Krozel, who specialized in backstroke, and Dennis Urow.

Coach Larson stated "The biggest problem was the loss of 10 seniors who could not be replaced. The freshman team did very well this year, and this will pay off in the long run." Both coaches agreed that there was a monumental improvement on all levels. Times were decreased and goals were met. Outstanding varsity swimmers include Andy Benbow, Pat Blackaller and Jim Krozel. Outstanding JV swimmers were Jeff Bloomfield, and Tom Gut. According to Coach Whelan the freshman team was outstanding.

With its current successes the diving team anticipates great things in the future.

One On One

The Girls Basketball Team accomplished many of the goals set for themselves at the beginning of the season.

Coached for the fourth straight year by Gene Earl they have relied on many successful strategies used in the past. Of these, the "diamond and one" press has been especially effective in forcing turnovers and creating many lay ups.

Despite the lack of height on the team, they rebounded extremely well against taller opponents. They defeated one such team, Maine West, in an intense game which turned out to be one of the highlights of the season. This victory gave Earl's girls an idea of what they were capable of achieving.

Intensity was the key through the season; the team worked hard to improve what they felt were their weaknesses.

Coach Earl wished to add that, as coach, "he was most happy to work with such a nice and happy group of young players. Hopefully they will have gained many great memories and learned some values that will help them in the future."

Coach Sopocy comments, "I'm very pleased with the season, and despite all the new faces the team did well learning to adjust to one another." The captains were Cindy Skupiewski, and Karen Tenzillo. Outstanding performances were given by Julie Klancnik, Becky Weinstein, and Gail Kibort.

Bucketeers

The freshmen girls were introduced to the winning tradition of Girls Basketball here at Niles West. The team had a very successful year and lived up to the reputation that preceded them. Key players contributing to the team's success were Deanne Zych, Carol Billisits, Cindy Bychowski, Nancy Johnson, Karen Wilczewski, and Roula Stamatakos. Coach Yunker commented that the girls were very energetic and worked hard toward their goal of being conference champions.

Takedown

The Niles West Wrestling Team won its second consecutive unbeaten conference title and the ninth for a Richardi-coached team. They also won their 2nd straight district title with 1st place finishes turned in by Bill LaManna, Rick Van Roeyen, Tom McCarthy, and Steve Brooks. These wrestlers, along with Art Zygmunt, Chris Mamaril, and Sam LoBue all who placed third went on to sectionals where the team placed third and sent Bill LaManna, Rick Van Roeyen, and Art Zygmunt to the state finals. LaManna and Zygmunt did not fare as well as Van Roeyen with LaManna winning his first match but then losing his second to the eventual state champ, while Zygmunt lost his first match by a point. Van Roeyen finished third in the state, losing to the eventual state champ in the semi-finals. Tim Christopolous also won the conference title at 167 pounds.

Predictably, the morale of the J.V. wrestling team was high, as the team rode the chariot of success following last year's dominating season. "The best thing about being on the wrestling team is that we know we have something to look forward to during the season, a conference championship," says D. Varnavas. Outstanding members were numerous, but the cream of the crop included S. LoBue, A. Govis, and M. Cohen. Next year's varsity should benefit greatly from the J.V.'s experience.

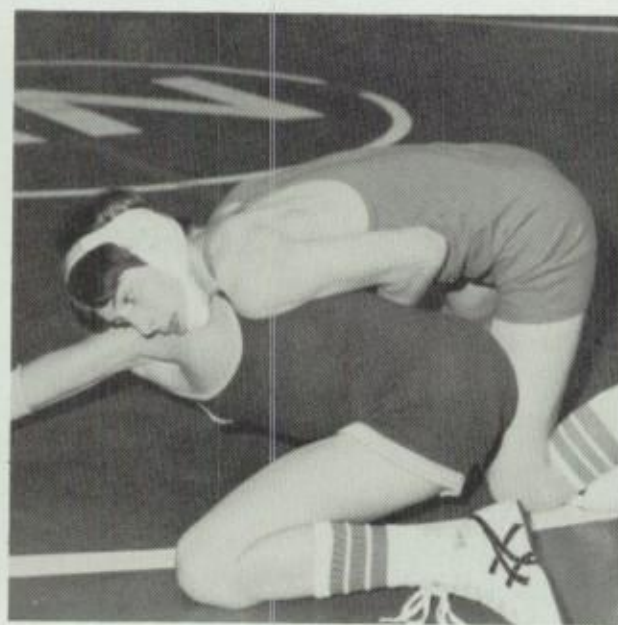

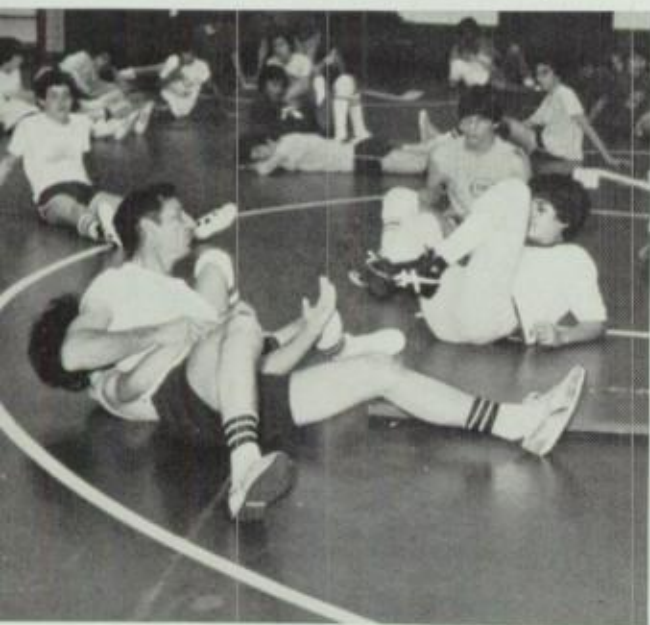

Clockwise from top: Y. Kim maneuvers for advantageous position over his opponent. Coach Richardi thanks Mrs. Eleanor Mulsoff (center) and her daughter Mrs. LeManna for the magnificent rug (background). D. Varnavas performs a power-half on his opponent. Coach Hartoonian finds a "victim" to demonstrate a new form of headlock. C. Turton (bottom) and S. Potts creating new moves during practice.

Top row: Coach Porter, D. Lasky, D. Kolber, S. Brabec, B. Kormit, M. King, R. Gerstein, K. Wexler, B. Kolar, H. Lang, D. Schmidt, F. Epstein, T. Brabec. Middle row: P. Ruehrdanz, M. Lochner, K. Schulman, J. Noyola, K. R. Putz, T. Hehn. Bottom row: M. Silverstein, R. Begoun, M. Unterberger, M. Pomerantz.

The freshmen newcomers were also swept up in the arms of victory, having only one defeat, that being to Maine West. This success was mostly due to the "feeder" programs at local junior high schools, where incoming freshmen get a head start on wrestling. Coach Porter states, "Other top high schools such as Maine West have had such programs for years, but only recently has such a program developed in Niles Township." Our wrestling team can expect success throughout the eighties, thanks to the "weasel" wrestling program.

Clockwise from top: Varsity grapplers and Coach Hartoonian watch the team subdue opponents. M. Cohen concentrates on tactics in defeating his opponent. Coach Richardi uses a "weasel" to demonstrate technique.

Rollover

From the highest of highs to the lowest of lows we attacked this season blow by blow. Never did we look back and wish it was different. We took the hand that fate had dealt us and turned a loser into a winner, comments Coach Burkel on the girl's Gymnastic Team. The team had injury after injury, but that didn't stop them from still trying their hardest.

They started out with 97 points at their first meet. Their goal was to reach 110 points by the end of the season to hopefully qualify them for state. Their scores began to move up until injuries took over. Co-Captain Margaret Luncsford twisted her ankle and a few points dropped. Within two weeks though she was back with padding on her feet and the points started to move up again. But before the team had a chance to really show their stuff two more tragic injuries fell upon them. Jacqueline Plonus broke a small bone and damaged ligaments in her ankle, while Co-Captain Chris Conton tore a cartilage in her knee. Both of these girls were unable to complete the season.

So, the J.V. team moved up to varsity to fill in the empty spots. The J.V. girls performed quite well and learned from this experience. The scores were beginning to slowly move up again, until (not again, yes again!) Nancy Meyer twisted her ankle. Well, the points once again went down by a few.

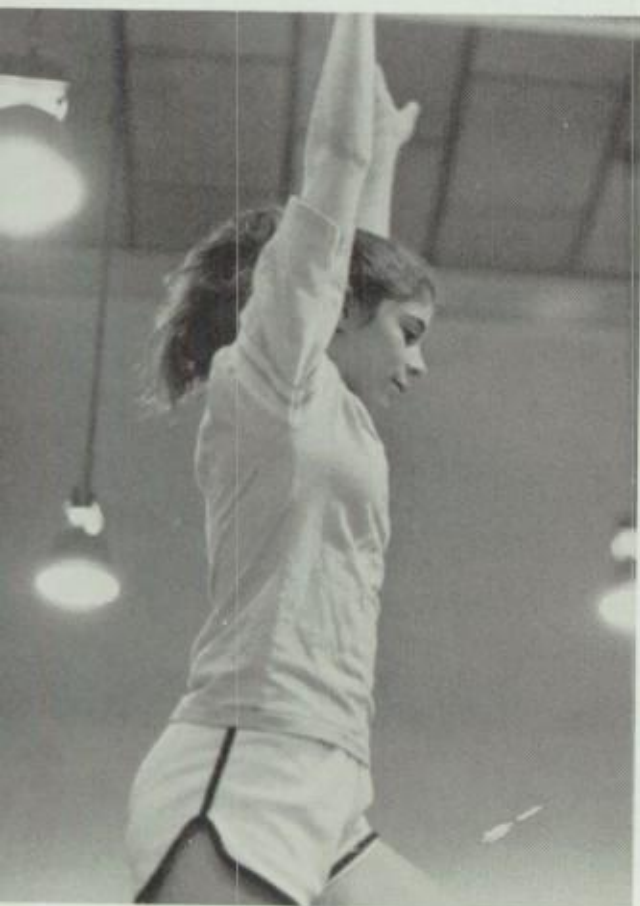

Despite the team's disastrous fate, the girls never gave up. There were some good moments shining through the bad. Some of those were M. Luncsford achieving her highest All-Around score ever, which was an 8.6. Another exciting moment was when the team finished 2nd place at the Rolling Meadows Invite. The girls who were able to compete gave 100% all the way until the end and the unfortunate injured girls never stopped encouraging their teammates. They all deserve 110 points!

Clockwise from center right: M. Luncsford high strutting. S. Barasch flies through the air with the greatest of ease. J. Plonus and L. Potocki stretch before practice. J. Disselhorst prepares for her mount.

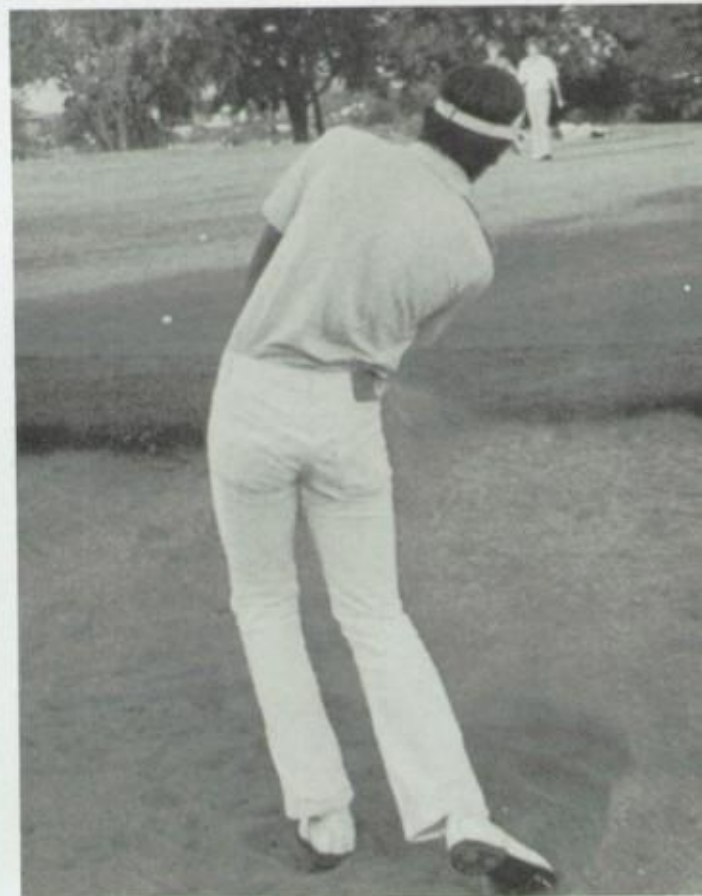

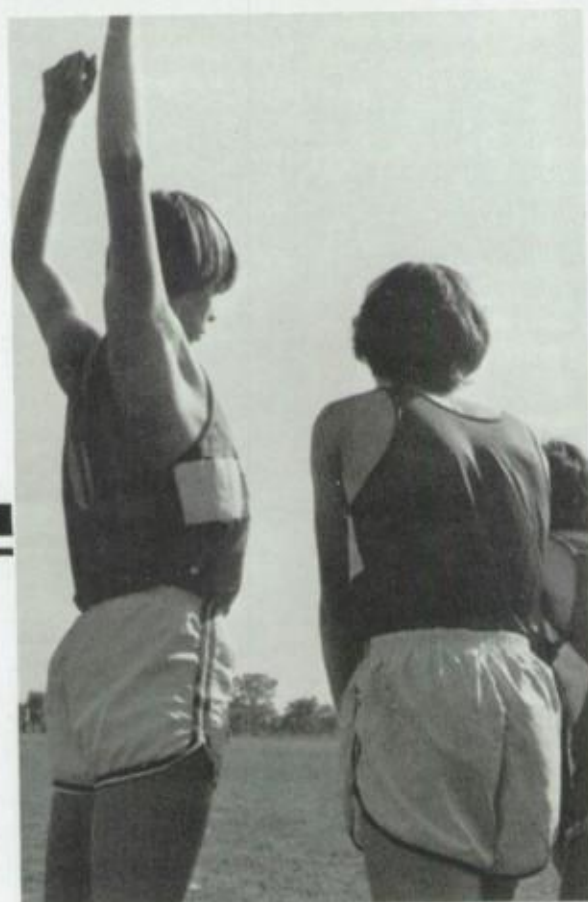

In the process of compiling a great 8-1 record and 2nd place in the conference tournament, our freshmen team showed that it could be brilliant and entertaining, aggressive and loose, skilled and persistent and, most of all, liked by everyone. Their routines were as polished as their grades in their classes. Their hard work at practice was rewarded with win after win. Their leader, Peggy Thill blazed the trail with scores in the 8's meet after meet. Dawn Diesing was never far behind with her high scoring routines, nor were K. McKeon, K. Nelson, H. Park, N. Goetz, and L. Barasch. The future looks bright for these freshmen as they build upon this solid foundation to advance to the junior varsity level.

The Club

After ending their first year as a varsity sport with an equal number of wins and losses, the Niles West Girls Soccer Team looked forward to improving their record this season. In order to accomplish this, the girls worked hard during the off season to improve their ball control and overall ability. Because most of the girls were returning members of the varsity squad, the team was experienced and showed good perception on the field.

Some of the tougher opponents were Lake Forest and Evanston, both of which were the only teams the girls lost to last season.

The team was coached for the second year in a row by Joe Brennen at the varsity level, and Lee Heeren at the Junior varsity level. Coach Brennen, who helped the team attain varsity status during the beginning stages commented, "I've never been associated with a group of athletes who have picked up a sport so fast and so well in such a short period of time. After only two seasons as a varsity team, with our skill and spirit, we have pretty much set the standard for girl's soccer in Illinois."

Hopefully, with a strong nucleus of underclassmen on the JV team returning next year, girls soccer at Niles West will have continued success in the future.

Private Lessons

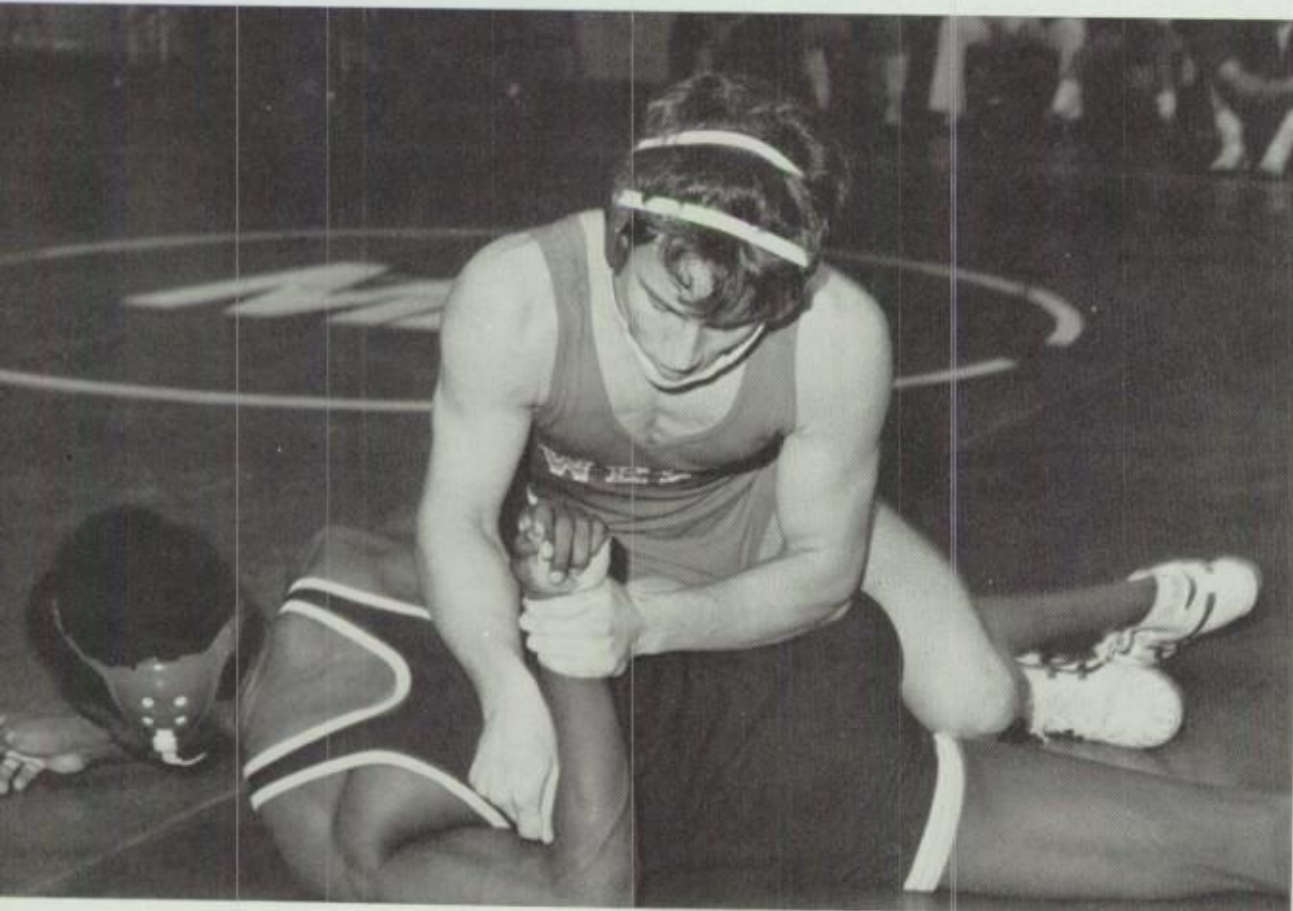

Thanks to a six-hundred dollar grant from the Booster Club, the entire tennis team was able to participate in the intramural program at the Touhy Tennis Club. Coach Sacks (affectionately known as "Squidly"), instructs at the club and his experience has helped many players, including returning lettermen Frank Miller, Steve Charous, and Larry Kong. No varsity members graduated last year, and Captain Kong optimistically predicts "... two or three victories." For the sophomores, Coach Ernst says this year's team will be a basis for future teams. Commenting on Coach Sacks' physical fitness policy for the whole team, Steve Miller says, "If nothing else, we'll be able to run against the track team."

Superman

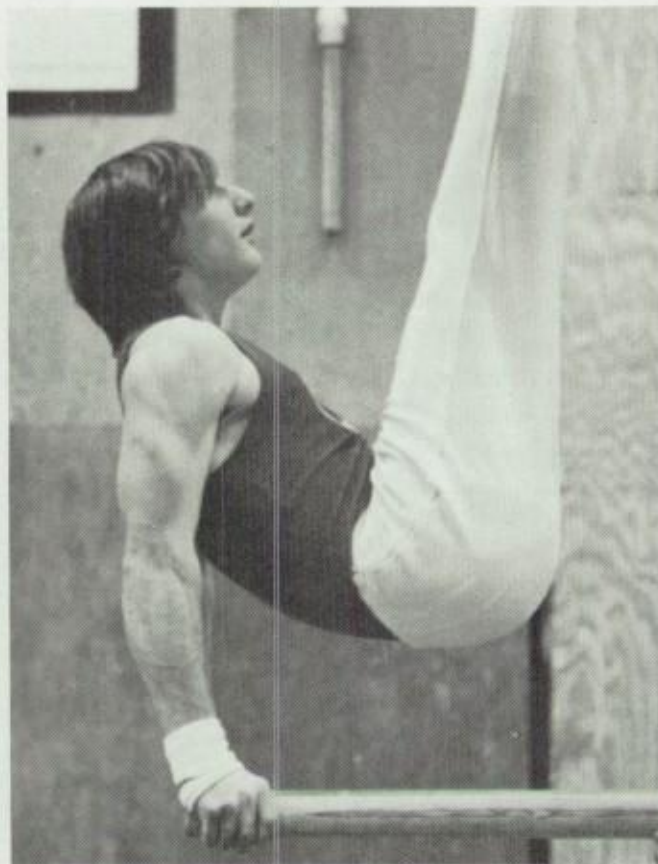

Both the gymnastics teams and their coach John Burkel had high expectations as the season began. Intramural activities provided the Indians with an opportunity to get in shape before the start of ISHA competition. These practice work outs formed a base which the gymnasts used as a starting point on the way to realizing their goals.

Coach Burkel echoed the teams hopes "to go beyond anything we have done in the past." The gymnasts toughest competition was Maine East and New Trier.

Seniors Mark Jacobs, the teams still ring specialist, and Matt Samuelson, state title hopeful on pommel horse led the team to a positive and exciting dual meet season.

Personal Best

The girls track team coached by Mrs. Armour (head coach), Mr. Armour (distance coach), Mrs. Nebbia (jumper's coach), and Miss Hallberg (thrower's coach) had quite a successful season. It was a long season starting in the middle of January and ending at the beginning of May. During the cold weather of January, February, and March the girls mostly worked out in the Niles West hallways and at the Niles East indoor track. A couple days a week the team would put on their long johns, sweatshirts, and jackets and challenge the fierce colds and winds of winter. Once the weather warmed up a bit the girls started to run outside on the newly resurfaced track.

There were thirty-one girls out for the team, which more than half were returning upperclassmen. Mrs. Armour comments on the talent of the team, "In terms of our team the strong talent was in distance (800m to 2mile), throwers, jumpers and hurdlers. The sprinters were a little weak, especially in the beginning, but developed their speed over the months." Some of the standout athletes on the team were Margaret Luncsford in the hurdles, Michaelyn Jarosz in the shot put, Patty O'Boyle in the high jump, and four of the distance runners consisting of Laura Friedlander, Robin Telengater, Sue Rosenblum, and Jennie Campbell. Evanston as usual was the teams toughest competitors in the CSL League.

Mrs. (coach) Armour sums it all up, "The kids were pleasant individuals to work with and very coachable. I have really enjoyed working with them."

Bad News Bears

During his second year as head coach George Galla made extensive changes in the Niles West Baseball program. He installed a scoreboard and fenced in the entire playing field. This gave the team a more professional atmosphere and they played with an enthusiasm unequalled in recent years.

Keys to this years success were the pitching of Danny Sugar and the overall good play of the starters. Mitch Stern and Sugar let the team in hitting and were the leaders of the Tribe. Juniors Mike Dahm, Cory Binstock, and Peter Joseph saw some action this year with Dahm playing shortstop and Binstock and Joseph on the mound. Other key players include Greg Searle, Kevin Benjamin and Gregg Arenson.

Silver Streak

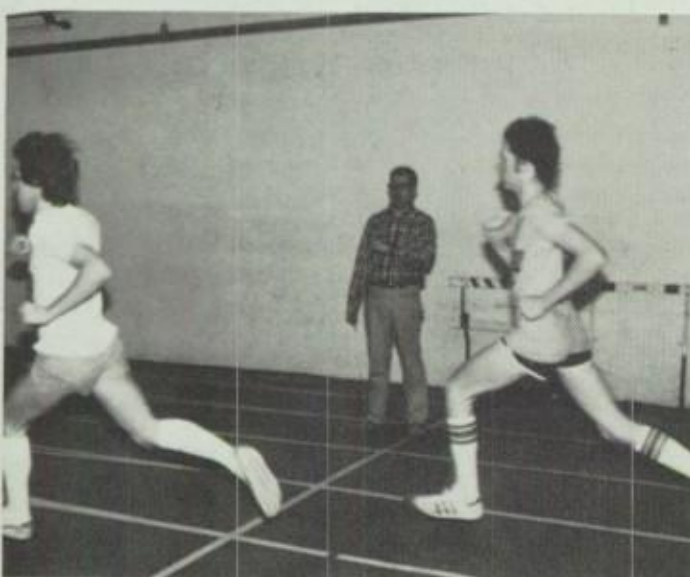

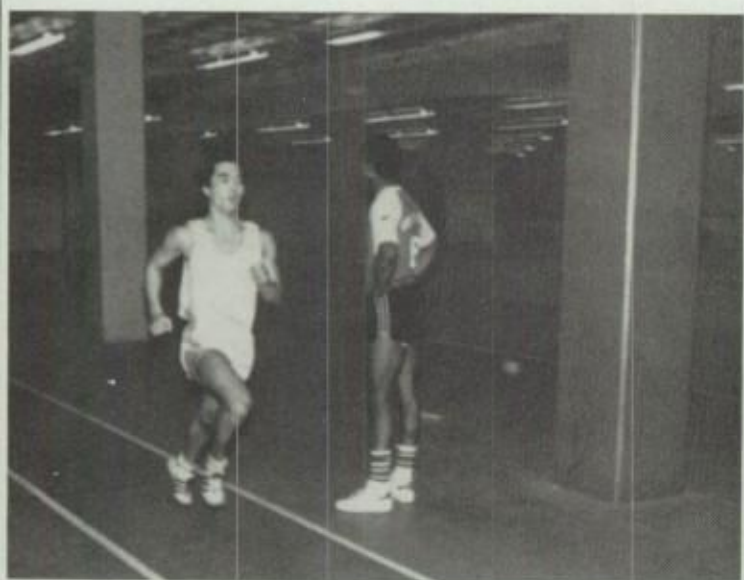

The boys track team led by captains Len Go and Mike Lee enjoyed a winning season. With supporting help from seniors Scott Margolin, Bruce Sandlow, and Lou Gross the team exceeded all expectations. Len Go added, "the team had a very enthusiastic atmosphere about them and this helped us enjoy our season." Coaches Pat Savage and Ron Cambell added their knowledge to this year's team which also included many underclassmen competing on the varsity squad for the first time. These boys were given a great deal of help by the coaches as well as the seniors and will be returning to the squad next year.

West Lingo

Niles West students have a unique way of communicating. It's done by using their own language, do you know what I mean? You may ask, do most of the students use this lingo? Totally. It's like, try having a college interview and saying "like", your interviewer would say, "like what?", and you'd be massively embarrassed. You wouldn't believe how much we do it until you stop and like listen to yourself. O.K.? It's like, the other day my friend goes, "We're gonna have like mega goodtimes this weekend," and I was like, is that what I sound like? Well, as we like totally near the end of our senior year, I think we should like start talking English again. Do you know what I mean?!

What's In?

The clothing craze around Niles West this year was the proclaimed "surgeon shirts." "I like the ones with blood on them," declares Slick Sammy Lobue.

The reason for the success of these shirts is due to the television show M*A*S*H. This show has set many new clothing trends. Anything from camouflage to khaki is in. Students who used to wear proper attire to school do not anymore. The proper attire has been replaced by sweat pants and surgeon shirts.

These v-neck shirts come in green, white, and blue. They are made from 100% pure cotton, and have a convenient pocket on the front of the shirt, and one on the inside also.

Just as Mother Nature does not like to be fooled by Chiffon Margarine, students do not like to be fooled by phony store-bought surgeon shirts. Students pay top dollar for a shirt that has actually been worn by a surgeon. If it is not paid for, it is taken right off the doctor's back while he is in surgery.

Scott Rudin states, "Every time I put my surgeon shirt on, I remember being slapped on my behind by the stork." Preppy Al Levey adds, "Like, they're real comfortable while I'm cruisin." Mark Jacobs remarks, "When I'm in mid air on the rings, there is nothing like having that precious shirt on my back."

Every year it is a guess what the clothing craze will be next year. Who knows, maybe next year, the nurses uniform will be "in!"

The Metallic Craze

Have you ever walked down the hall and seen those metallic clothes worn by lots of people and wondered, "How on earth can they wear those?"

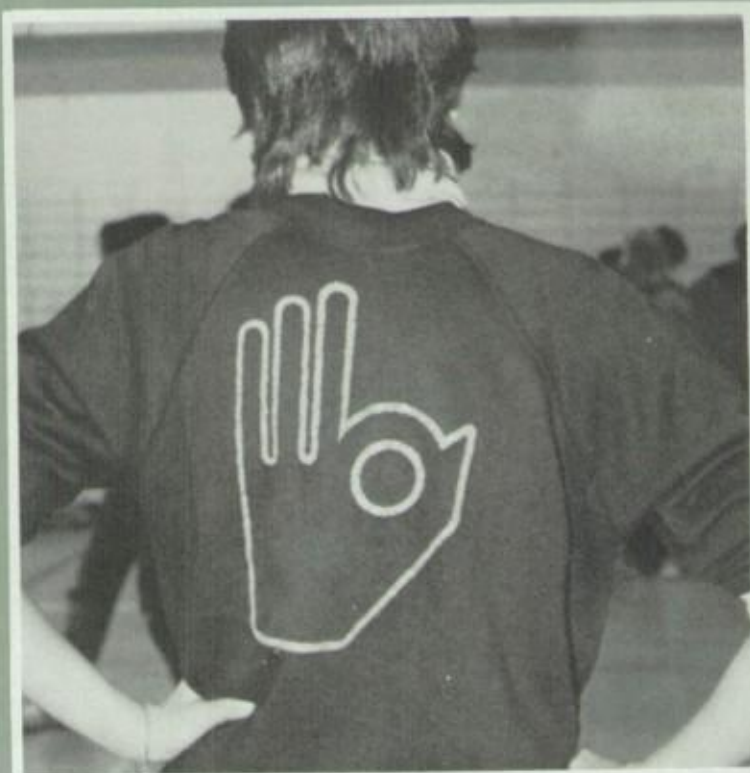

Well, the metallic craze has struck Niles West!!! Everywhere you look you see reflections on belts, shoes, pants, shirts and even purses.

Why are these clothes so popular????? Tom Lynn, a senior, said, "I think the metallic clothes are for other people, but not for me; they can have them!" Keith Gross, also a senior, thinks the new style is "ridiculously stupid," and it makes him sick. Obviously some of the opinions aren't too positive, but when asked, Pam Sloma said that she thought the change was "nice". "I think that if people wore them right, the new look would be great!"

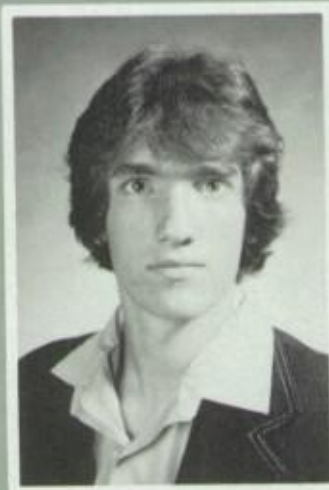

The new look is obviously popular because:

- 1) it's advertised all over as being the new fad,
- 2) everyone is wearing it and
- 3) it sure is different, and there are a lot of people who want a change.

"How long will the metallic craze last?" Well, as long as people want it to. If everyone continues to wear these eye-catching clothes then this fad will live on. If the majority decides it's not "the thing" anymore, then maybe our High School fad will die.

"G.H." Addiction

General Hospital. These two words may seem very simple, but just talk to one of the most popular soap opera's 15 million fans. You will discover that in reality these words are very complex. "GH"-as its fans fondly call it-attracts many teenage viewers. High school and college students watch the story unfold on their t.v. sets with great interest.

The two main characters on the show had been Luke (Tony Geary) and Laura (Genie Francis). Before Genie Francis left "GH" in January, the couple was loved by all fans. They lived through adventures such as stopping the mob in the fictional town of "Port Charles, N.Y." Also, the pair stopped a madman from destroying the world by freezing it. Though the plots may seem far-fetched, loyal viewers love all the intricate twists. Some of these viewers are famous. For example, Elizabeth Taylor appeared on the program for one week in November. She was present at Luke and Laura's wedding, the biggest soap opera event ever. In the few months before this event the couple appeared on the covers of such magazines as Newsweek, People, and Us. These two characters had dominated the show for three years.

There are other characters on the program, but none with the following of Luke and Laura. Most of the others are doctors, nurses or lawyers. One doctor is played by Rick Springfield who also has a successful music career.

Besides Rick Springfield's music, there is also a song titled "General Hospi-tale" on the market. It is a summary of the stories from the early summer of 1981. The song is one of the many products that ABC authorizes. There are scrub shirts, T-shirts, buttons, mugs and many other items with the "GH" insignia. "General Hospital" is truly a media phenomenon.

If you want to get caught up in this whirlwind, tune in every weekday, from 2:00-3:00 on channel 7. Be careful-it's addictive.

Here's Looking At You

Walking through the halls, you think that you are attending Niles West, but if you look around, you may get another idea- you may think that you are attending any college in the nation from Yale to Michigan State University. This is because of the great population of Niles West students, especially seniors, that continue to wear sweatshirts, T-shirts, and sweatpants with college logos printed across their chests, and in many cases, their behinds.

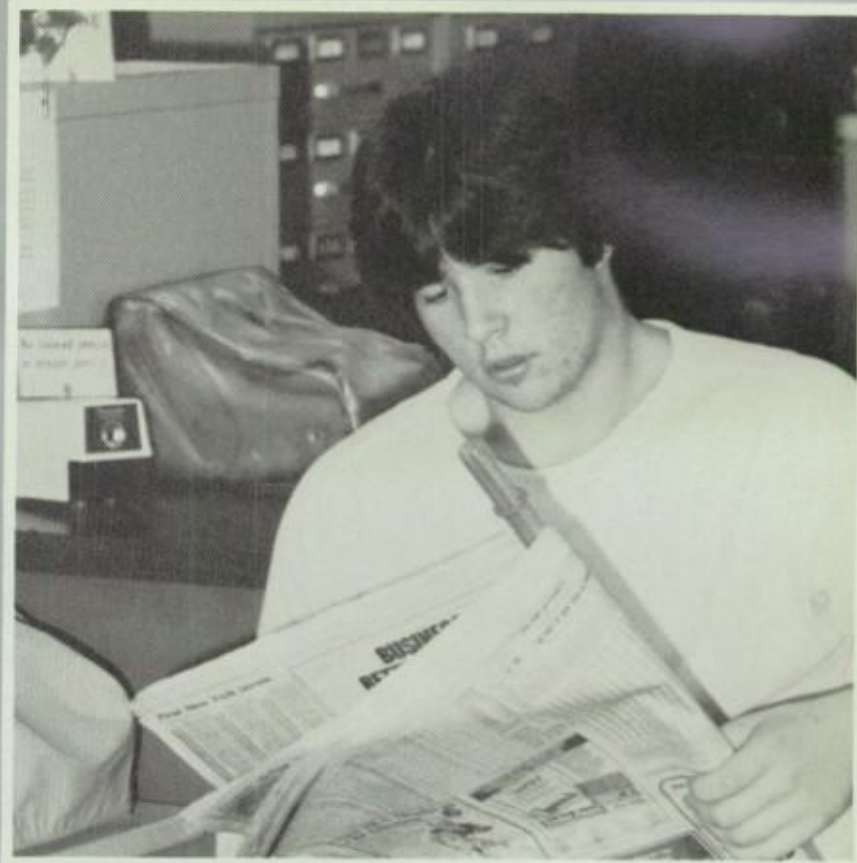

Every weekend, many Niles West students flock down to the University of Illinois, Indiana University, and University of Iowa and buy out the towns' local bookstores to fill up their so-called "empty closets" at home. This habit can get extremely expensive, but as senior Amy Gold says, "The sweatpants and sweatshirts are worth every penny."

Most of the apparel comes from the Midwestern schools, as many Niles West students' older brothers and sisters attend these schools and bring wearable presents home.

One avid college sweatsuit collector is Roz Nagrodes who says, "I love to wear this stuff because it's so comfortable and now that I'm a senior, I don't have to worry about how I dress- I have no one to impress."

So next time you're walking down the hall, take notice of this popular craze and try to figure out if you really are at Niles West.

New Changes For Seniors

Members of the class of '82 have been through many changes throughout their years of high school, ranging from the closing of Niles East to the closing of the Student Lounge. They've gone through it all. More important changes are the new modular system and closed halls. Here are some of the things the seniors have to say on some of these topics.

Steve Wilensky thinks, "When Niles East closed, most of the people didn't think the transition would be good. We all thought we wouldn't be welcome. Well, I think I can speak for everyone from East in saying this was a great two years!" In addition, Amy Gold says, "We're all happy that Niles East joined West!!"

The changing of the Student Lounge into a study hall did not go unnoticed. "The closing of the Student Lounge was the killer just because it meant so much to people," states senior Nadine Shetler.

The new modular system, having twenty-nine 15-minute mods, brought many mixed emotions. Anne Stuermer says, "The new mod system was confusing for most people at first, but everyone got used to it quickly." Garry Benjoya has an additional comment: "Although the mods seem to make the day go by faster, I liked the old schedule better."

All in all, it seems as though these changes have been made for the better. Seniors not only seem to be adjusting to these changes, but are actually happy with some of them. So anytime there's a change in the everyday routine at West, don't put it down until you get a chance to experience it.

Jelly Bellies

Jelly Bellies are a new fad in sweet eating at Niles West. They are gourmet jelly beans of unique flavors, including orange, apple, tangerine, grape, watermelon, greenapple, lemon, lime, lemon-lime, pineapple, cherry, blueberry, boysenberry, and tutti-frutti. Other Jelly Bellies taste like beverages: coffee, pina-colada, cream soda, and senior Marilyn Moltz's "favorite," island punch. Students at West had choices from coconut to peanut butter and in between they found bubble gum, spearmint, licorice, chocolate-banana, cinnamon, and good old American cotton candy. Sound good? They are-but like many good things, there is a price to pay. Jelly Bellies cost four dollars and fifty cents per pound at Marshall Fields, but after all, aren't they worth it?

A Glance From The Class Of '83

The juniors of Niles West have done a good job to memorize their lines for the movie. During a recent rehearsal they practiced their favorite lines for year-book reporters.

Denice Bocek—"Don't touch my hair."

Fernanda Caullieres—"I love Ted in my U.S. History Class."

Nancy Raraza—"Aerobic dance class was different."

Darrell Goldberg—"I really think study hall is a drag."

Joel Fink—"You make it, I'll eat it."

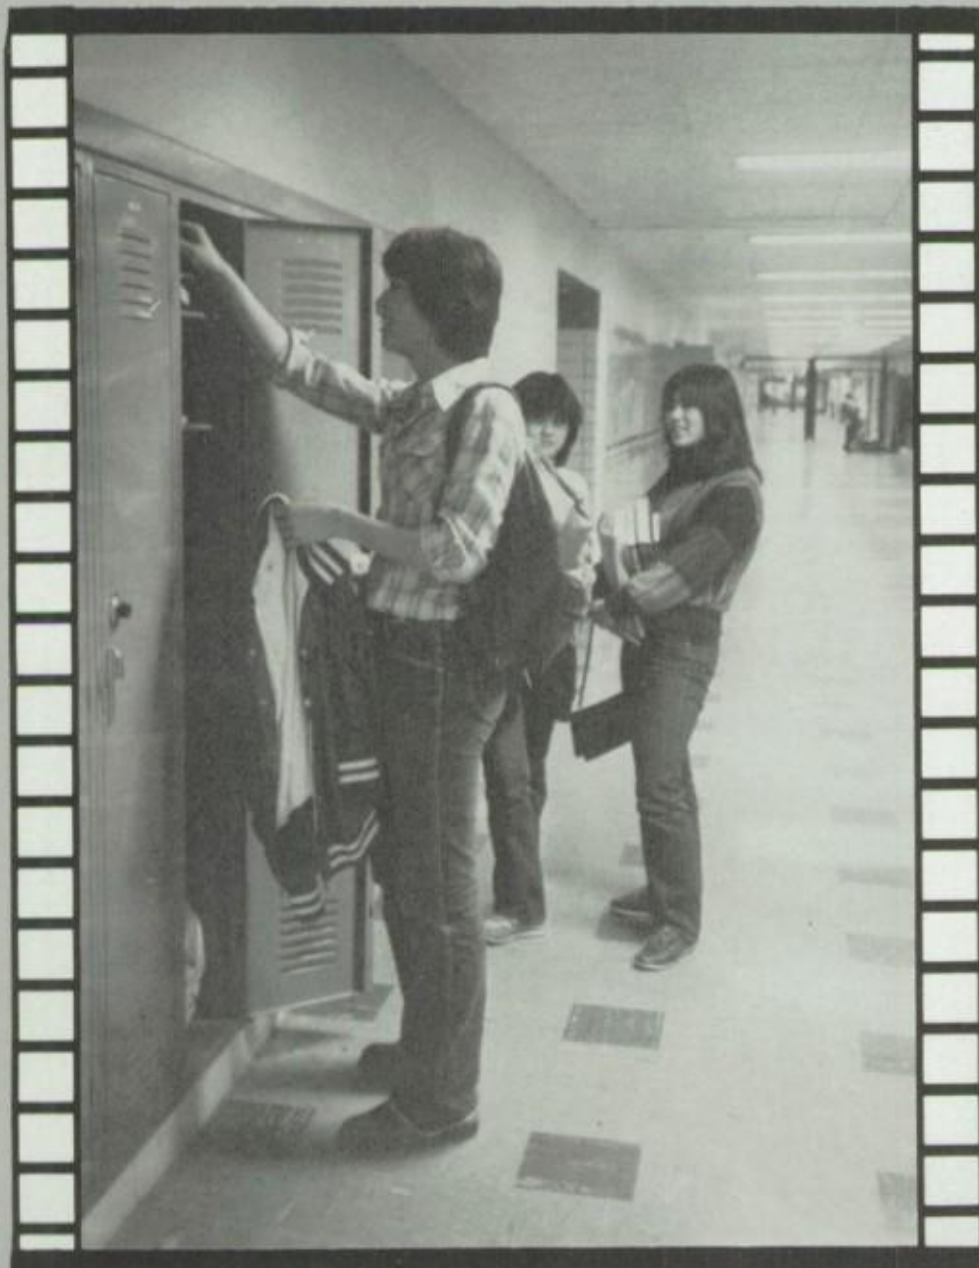

Elliot Kravetz—"I got my mouth piece out!"

Jullie Kellman—"Saxophone power!"

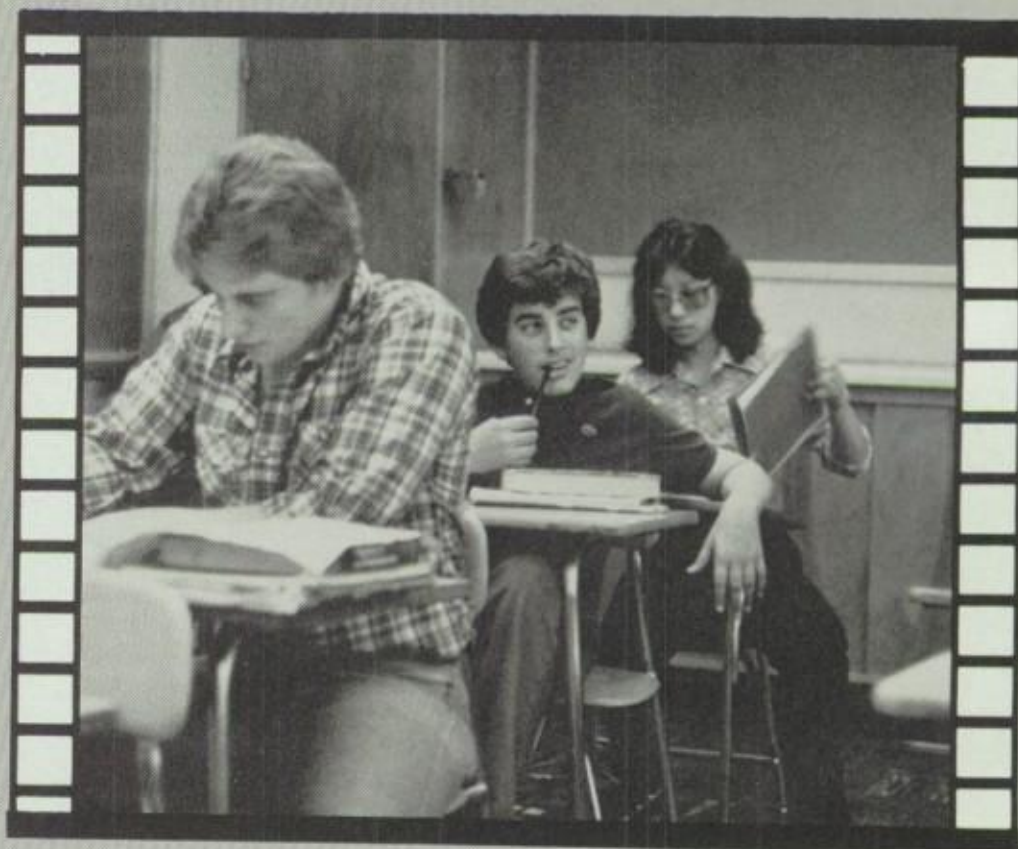

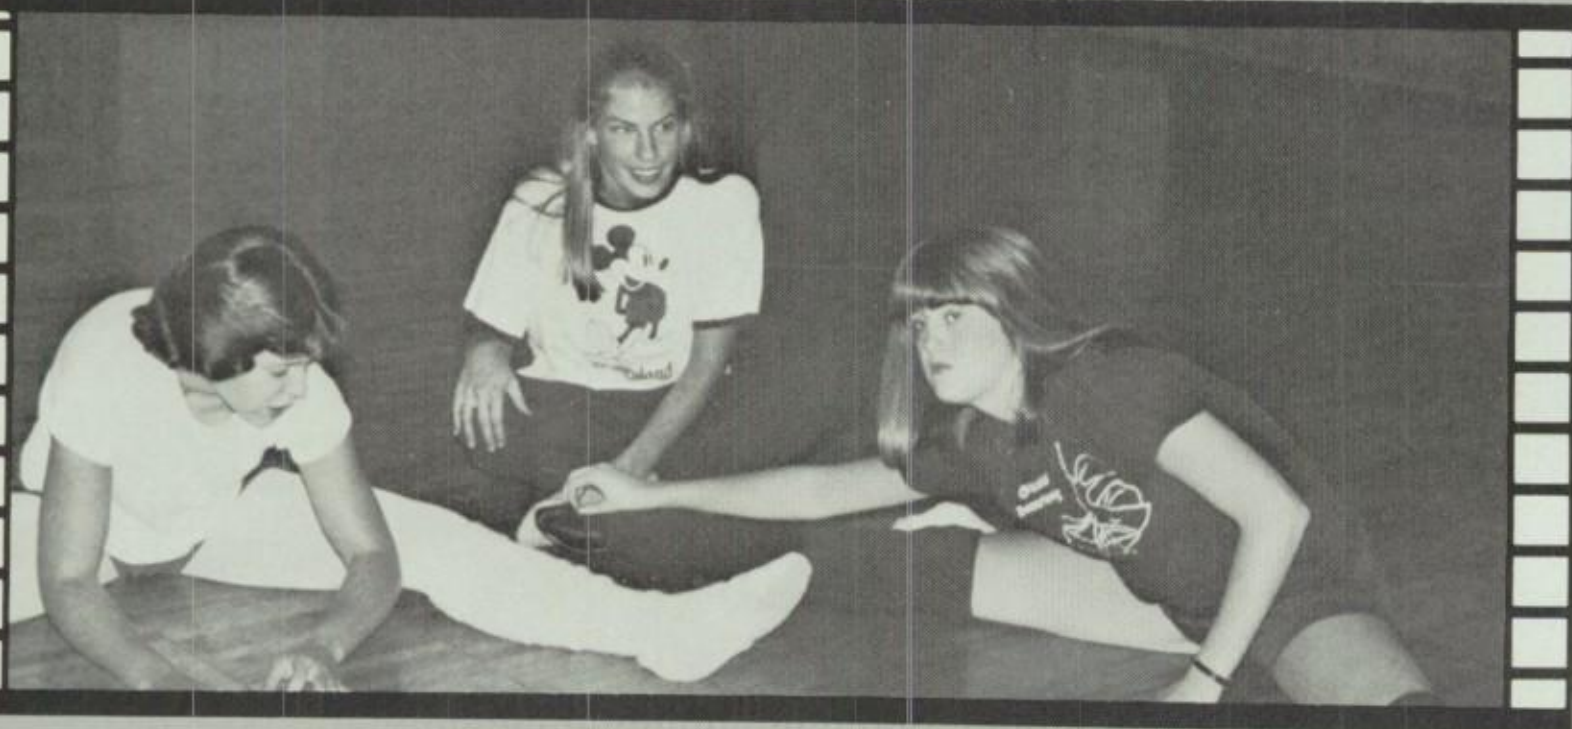

Debbie Laser—"You guys aren't going to believe . . ."

Ray Chao—"Go for it!"

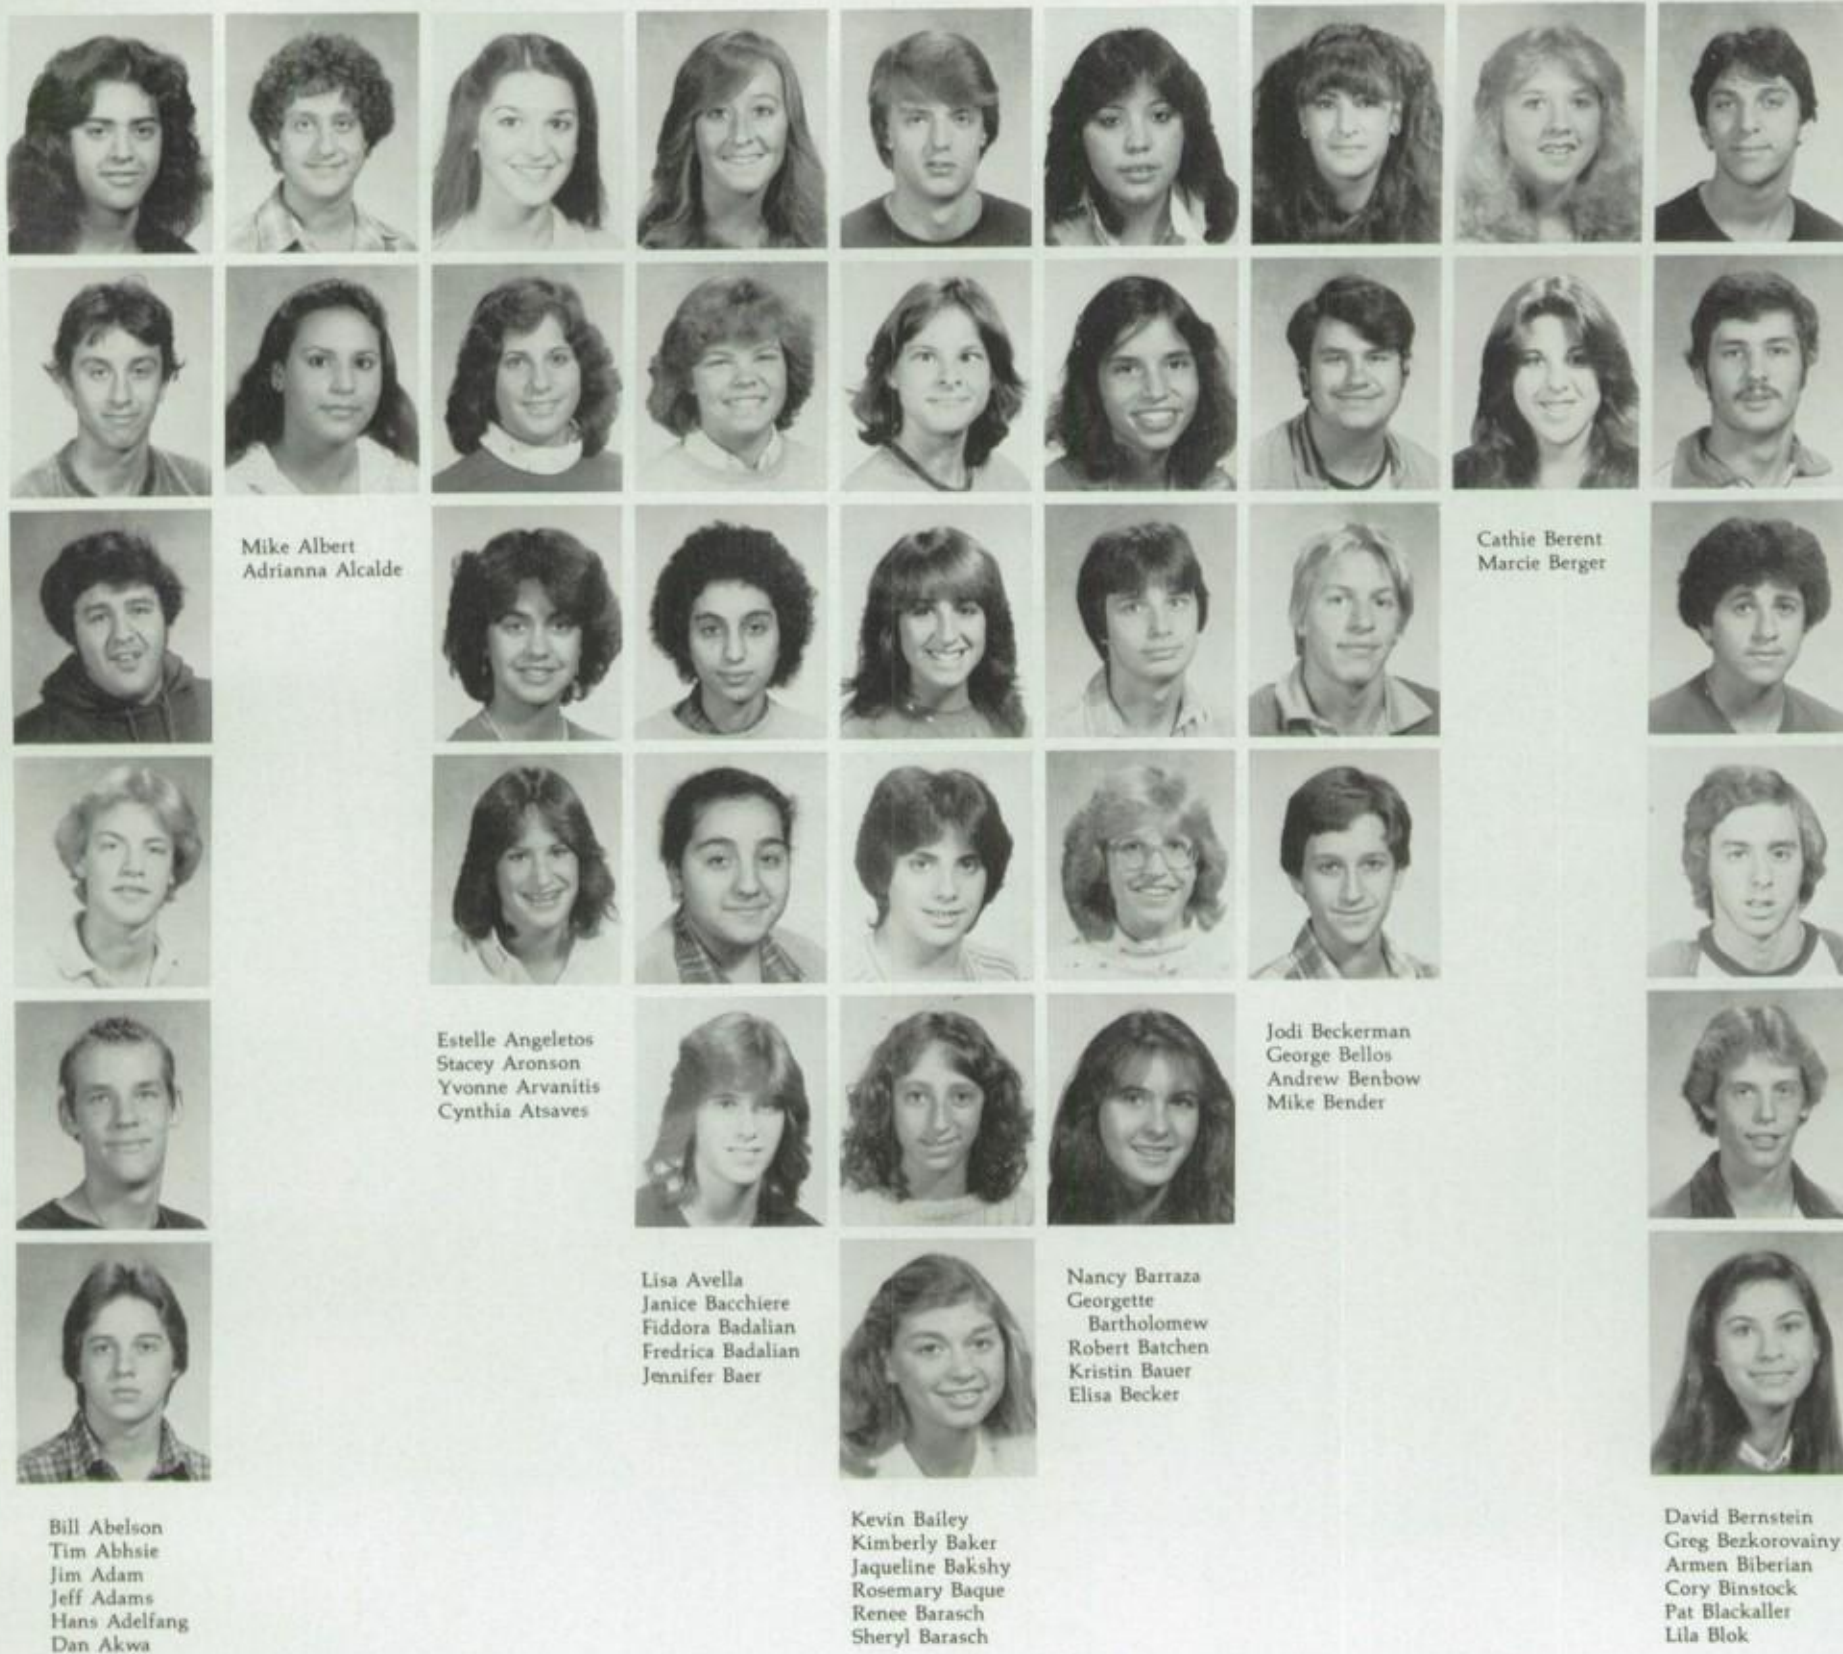

Sue Rabin—"Keeno obsolete"

Hungry For Fans

There are many sports at West where the athletes receive a lot of recognition, but there are also a few where athletes receive little or no recognition at all. Such is the case of Girls' Cross-Country and Girls' Swimming, which both had successful seasons. Girls participating in these sports must devote themselves completely, like any other sport, but these sports require a little extra due to the lack of support. They practice long hours, yet hear no one cheering for them at their meets. The only ones that know how well they've done are the coaches, other team members, and the athletes themselves.

Senior Barb Buckley, member of the swim team, stated, "I don't think people realize how much time we put into improving ourselves. It seems like they look down on us; they don't give us much encouragement. Our improvements show nothing of the support people have given us." The swim team had a much better season than last year, with many individual records broken.

Junior Susie Rosenblum, a member of the cross-country team commented, "The school should give more recognition for cross-country by having fan buses to the big meets, and to the state meet with the team. Holding pep rallies is a good way to show support for state bound teams." The cross-country team had a victorious season, winning the conference and district championships and qualifying for the state meet.

Jenny Weiss, senior co-captain of the cross-country team said, "Most people don't consider cross-country to be a spectator sport. But usually when a person does attend a meet, they can almost experience for themselves the emotional intensity of the runners. You can sense the competition, the pain, and the striving for a goal that is less obvious than other sports."

In conclusion, the cross-country and swim teams have worked hard all season without getting the honor and glory that they deserved.

The Champions We Cheered On

What's up? A sickness? A madness? A wild new craze?

Nah, it's just the invasion of the Chicago Sting. That magnificent soccer team that brought home the national championship to our "win-starved" city. And the enthusiasm for the Sting was present among Niles West students, too.

This past year, the Chicago Sting reached the highest point of popularity. Over thirty thousand fans showed up at Cominsky Park for almost every game. Most of the fans in the past have been from countries where soccer is the national sport. But Americans, including people at West, are beginning to catch up with the craze.

The positive spirit towards the Sting has been shown by Sting t-shirts, hats, banners, and buttons that have been popping up at West. Jeff Wilfong commented, "I've never seen so many black and yellow Sting hats in my life." Our enthusiasm for the team has not diminished, as proven by the continuing Sting popularity. Jeff concluded, "I will never go to bed without my Sting hat ... and my teddy bear."

Student Lounge Turns Into Study Halls

Last year the administration had a problem. Where were all the study halls going to be held? Certainly the 309 study hall wouldn't accomodate the many study hall students. They solved the problem by turning the old student lounge into three study areas, by adding a wall. And it is within these walls that the study halls are held.

Study halls can be looked at in two ways. Either they are helpful and necessary, or they are unnecessary and harmful. Some believe that study hall give students an opportunity to study for a test or catch up on homework neglected the night before. This is especially true for morning study halls. But, for those that have a study hall at the end of the day, this can pose a problem. This time could be takign away from afterschool activities, like sports, clubs, or afterschool jobs.

Julie Keller says, "Study halls are helpful to me when I have homework, but when I don't, I think they are a waste of time."

Also, two mod study halls require students to stay in the room, as opposed to three mod study halls that let students go to the library. This causes problems for students with more than one study who may have completed all their homework.

"Study halls can be a good place to work, if you have homework, but otherwise, they are a waste of time," junior Helena Gabriel concluded, "but I always find something to do, whether homework, or just catching up on my AP U.S. History reading."

Something To Do After School

Niles West is a school blessed with a wide variety of extracurricular activities. They range from excellent sports programs to fine clubs.

Most of the students at West are in favor of the activities. As Kim Lores said, "They let you do things you enjoy with your friends after school." Aaron Melnick expressed similar feelings, "They give you something enjoyable to do after a hard day of school." David Rugendorf favors them also but for different reasons, "Extracurricular activities are conducive to learning. I feel they should be actively pursued by all students willing to enhance their education." The reason Julie Mamett likes them was quite different from most responses. She said, "They keep you away from the refrigerator."

However, a few problems do arise from the activities. The most common of these problems is that they interfere with the student's schoolwork. As Steve Dorfman put it, "I really enjoy participating in the activities, but a lot of times they interfere with my homework." Dave Cedeño had a more extreme case, "When I'm involved in an extracurricular activity, I don't do my homework at all!"

On Your Feet

During the 1970's jogging has become increasingly popular, because everyone needs to maintain a good self image. What else could make jogging more comfortable than a good looking pair of running shoes.

There are a number of popular brands of jogging shoes that are found on most runners' feet such as: Nike, Brooks, Adidas, New Balance and Converse.

When asking several Niles West future marathoners what brand they prefer, their responses were interesting.

"Adidas shoes are comfortable, stylish, and come in various models to satisfy a wide variety of runners. They are far superior to their counterpart New Balance," said Jay Zeff.

In agreement with Jay, Mike Lee was quoted at saying, "New Balance people just have to face the facts that their shoes really are inferior. Adidas is and always will be #1. No matter what New Balancers say, Adidas is far better."

Senior Laura Friedlander certainly doesn't agree and said, "I find that New Balance is the best shoe for me. I used to run in Brooks but they caused me knee injury. New Balance has the support all distance runners need and they are not extremely expensive."

A Mod Way Of Doing Things

This year a new schedule was instituted at Niles West. A day consisted of 29 mods commencing with homeroom. Each mod was fifteen minutes with the last five minutes being a passing period. Classes met for forty minutes and labs for fifty-five minutes. Freshmen, sophomores, and juniors were compelled to be scheduled for at least 300 minutes with a certified teacher. This made students choose between taking extra classes or having study halls.

There was a wide range of comments on the new schedule. Junior Bill Decker called the new schedule "Tyrannical." "I would be out of school two hours earlier if there wasn't this three hundred minute rule," Bill commented. Junior Mike Wilson had different views. He said, "This year besides getting out of school an hour earlier than previous year I had an hour for lunch."

Science students had mixed emotions on the fifty-five minute period. Senior Larry Kong had these comments of complaint on the new schedule. "In fifty-five minutes it is virtually impossible to carry out a complicated chemistry lab. By the time everything is set up it is almost time to clean up." Junior physics student Marc Falleroni said, "The extra fifteen minutes allowed my physics class to have more in-depth discussions."

This year Niles West adopted a new attendance policy to go along with its new mod schedule. Students will now have to face stricter penalties for unexcused absences. For the first, second, and third unexcused absences in a course, each student will serve one hour of detention (formerly called B.A.C.) after school. If a student fails to serve the one hour, it will result in full day detention. The fourth and fifth absences will become one and two day detentions. After the next unexcused absence, the course will automatically be dropped and the student will be assigned to a study hall.

This new rule also pertains to excessive absences. If a student accumulates a total of thirteen absences within one semester, he may be sent to an "Attendance Review Board."

There is also a new system of "modified excuses." These are excuses that pertain to vacations, medical appointments, and college visits and are limited to five per semester.

Movie Mania Strikes Again

Three movies, "Stripes," "Superman II," and "Raiders of the Lost Ark," seemed in a class by themselves as some of the better, and definitely a consensus of the most popular movies at the start of the '82 school year.

"Stripes" was considered by many to be a male version of one of last year's comedy hits, "Private Benjamin," with Bill Murray being the male counterpart of Goldie Hawn. However, possibly the greatest significance of the movie was the success of former Saturday Night Live member, Bill Murray. Murray's success was comparable to fellow Saturday Night Live alumni which include John Belushi, Dan Ackroyd, and Chevy Chase.

"Superman II" was one of the few sequels that was as good as, if not better than the original. Like all Superman stories, it was once again the tale of good overcoming evil, with Christopher Reeves once again playing Superman, and Margot Kidder playing Lois Lane. However, in this movie, Superman had his greatest obstacles to overcome. He was matched against three super villains who each had super powers equal to his own. Although Superman seemed greatly outmatched, in the end he overcame the odds by simply outsmarting his opponents.

"Raider of the Lost Ark" was one of the few old-fashioned, adventure movies to obtain success in some time. The movie's success could be attributed to the fact that unlike many other adventure movies, "Raiders of the Lost Ark" could not be taken seriously. It had its suspenseful and thrilling moments like any adventure movie, but it also had an added touch of humor spread throughout the story that allowed for the movie to be light and entertaining, yet still exciting.

Senior Mike Sathy who had the good fortune to see all three movies said it best by saying, "All three movies were excellent, each in their own way." After being pressed further with, some difficulty Mike chose "Stripes" as the best of the bunch.

Dr. Nicholas Mannos

James Swanson

The role of the Principal in 1981-82 is without question, an exciting and challenging opportunity and responsibility. We continue to enjoy the greatest support of a fine community who sincerely care about their youth. Our Niles West parents and school board have consistently supported an outstanding educational program. I am pleased and proud to be a part of a professional staff that devotes the expertise, time and concern toward the goals of excellent instruction, plus a sincere interest in the future of our young people. Our mission has always been to attain the goal of excellence in all of our programs. A school can only be as productive as the genuine commitment of students, parents, staff and administration toward the prescribed goals of our educational program.

Wesley Gibbs

It was time again for the Board of Education to hold elections. Lowell Ruffer was elected President while Florence Sutker was elected Secretary. Other members included: Mary Aderman, Mary Helen Archibald, Nancy Cohen, Terri Liston, and Eric Moch. They were unified into a solid, diligent-working group. Two major proposals were put into action. The 300 minute day and the new mod system were instituted. Another plan, being considered by the Board, is reviewing the counseling system. However, the main emphases were educating and balancing the budget.

A Touch Of Class

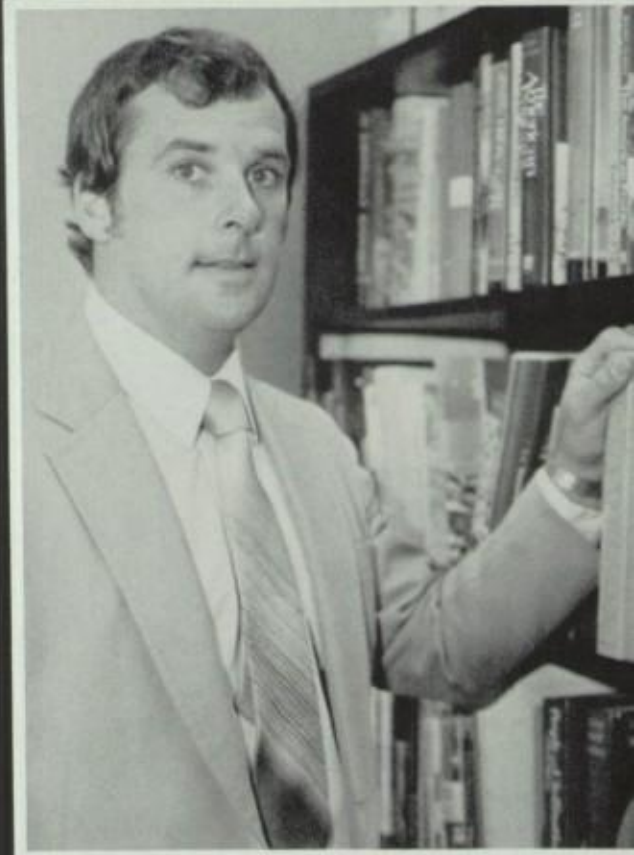

The administrators worked very hard. They carried out the policies designated by the Board of Education and helped coordinate the various departments that they headed this year. They also worked on certain school policies that became effective in 1981-82. Their dedication really paid off!

There have been some significant changes in the Dean's office. Niles West has a new dean, Mrs. Jean Yunker. The former Jean Wodjula from the Physical Education Department is now the third Dean. Also, the new attendance policy passed by the Board of Education over the summer has been instrumental in causing the attendance of students to be improved. No detentions are served during the day. Students who cut class or are tardy or have discipline detentions, serve after school from 2:45 to 3:45 in room 140. Many students who were chronic truants last year are now going to class on a regular basis and have received as a result, greater academic success.

Help

The counselor department underwent some teacher changes. Frank Mustari and Arthur Ryden, two of last year's counselors left this year. Barbara Handler took over Mr. Mustari's students. This was a smooth transition.

Again this year college night was very successful for those students who attended. It gave the students of the entire district an opportunity to investigate information about various colleges.

The art program at Niles West is one of the few programs left in the high school curricular where students have the opportunity to creatively express themselves. As a result of this exciting program, as well as the dedication of its high quality instructors, student enrollment has once again increased this past year.

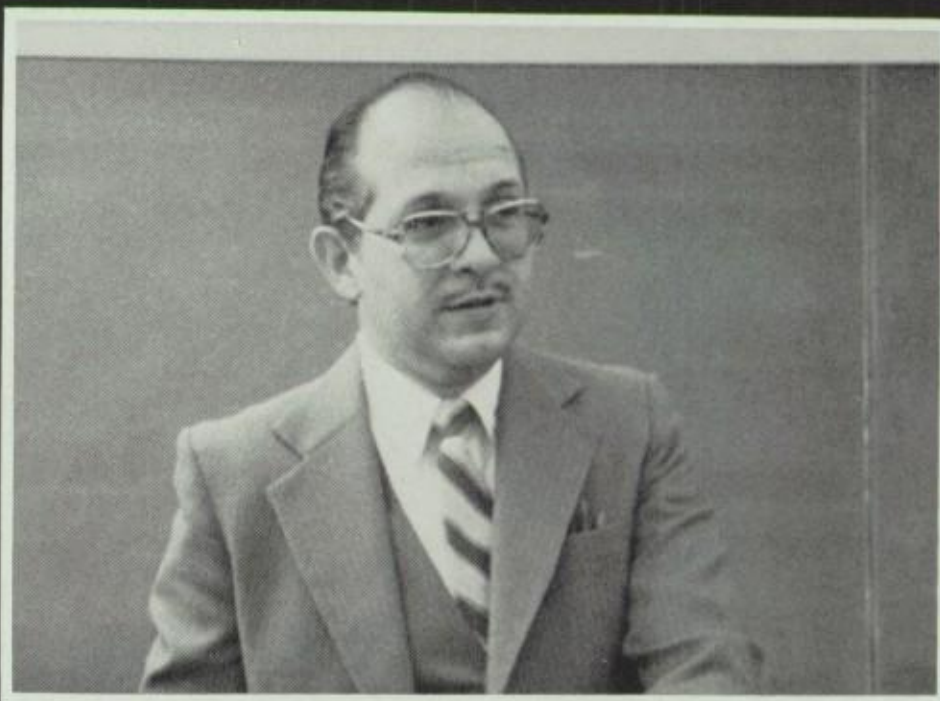

Among the highlights of this year's activities was the annual trip to the Chicago Art Institute where students were able to see and study some of the world's greatest art works. Another annual event was the field trip to the Fel Pro Triple RCCamp, where students took part in drawing, painting, and pottery activities. New to the art program this year was the March celebration of Youth Art Month, a state and federally recognized program.

Rich And Famous

Business Education is the study of the structure and functions of business. The courses offered are designed to allow students to begin preparation for careers in business. There are courses in accounting, business management sales and advertising, data processing and typing. A look around the Business Education Department on a typical day finds students learning the theory of debits and credits, the principles of electronic data processing, installment, buying, machine transcription, typing and numerous other things.

Future World

Cooperative Vocational Education is a method of instruction which moves the classroom into the "real world of work." It is an instructional plan which combines learning experiences gained in on-the-job supervised employment and vocationally related in-school instruction. The overall objective of CVE is to provide an opportunity for interested students to acquire marketable skills and knowledge in an occupation for which they have an aptitude.

Chapter Two

Stress in writing and language development was the main emphasis in the English department. All freshmen and sophomore courses were revised. An English test was administered to the freshmen at the beginning of the year and at the end. Journalism classes attended a conference at the University of Wisconsin, Whitewater that included topics on newspaper and yearbook design. Spectrum 1981 was awarded first place and first class by the University of Wisconsin and the University of Minnesota, respectively. The debate team under new coach, Berkowitz, competed in several tournaments. The team size doubled this year. The department was also fortunate to have three student teachers: Jodi Miller, Jean Schneider, and Beth Windmiller.

Common testing was implemented in the Foreign Language Department this year to ensure that all courses were taught in the same sequence and contained the same material. Field trips were taken to museums, plays, restaurants, and ethnic neighborhoods to enhance cultural understanding. Some students also attended special conferences that provided total immersion in the language on weekends. The Spanish and German Clubs, along with the newly instituted French Club all had large memberships. The German Club had a successful candy sale which raised $2000 dollars, half the proceeds going to a charity. Four outstanding German students received scholarships out of the other half. The Spanish Club sponsored an Atari game Tournament. Prizes were awarded to the first and second place winners in the Freshman-Sophomore and Junior-Senior categories.

Who's Killing The Great Chefs Of Europe

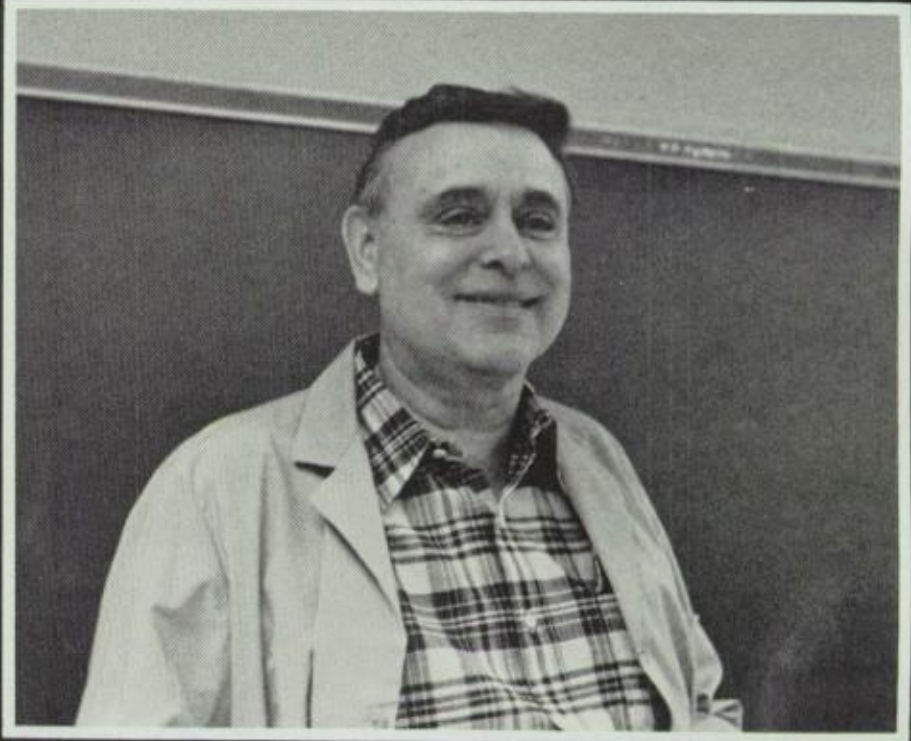

Home Economics may be the name of the department, however the daily activities that take place in our classrooms cover a much broader aspect of the lives of our students today. While some of our basic instruction centers around the traditional foods and clothing courses, tradition is broken when our students run a restaurant, study fashion merchandising and operate a nursery school. The courses have been available to boys for many years, and in the last few years, we have experienced a substantial increase in the male enrollment.

Heavy Metal

Our Industrial Education program teaches about how things work. It includes courses in aeronautics, auto mechanics, electronics, drafting, metalworking, and woodworking. These courses are designed to improve the quality of one's life by helping a person to better understand the materials and processes used in today's highly technical world. Students taking Industrial Arts courses learn through hands how to design, draw, build, test and repair many of the devices encountered in their daily lives.

The Paper Chase

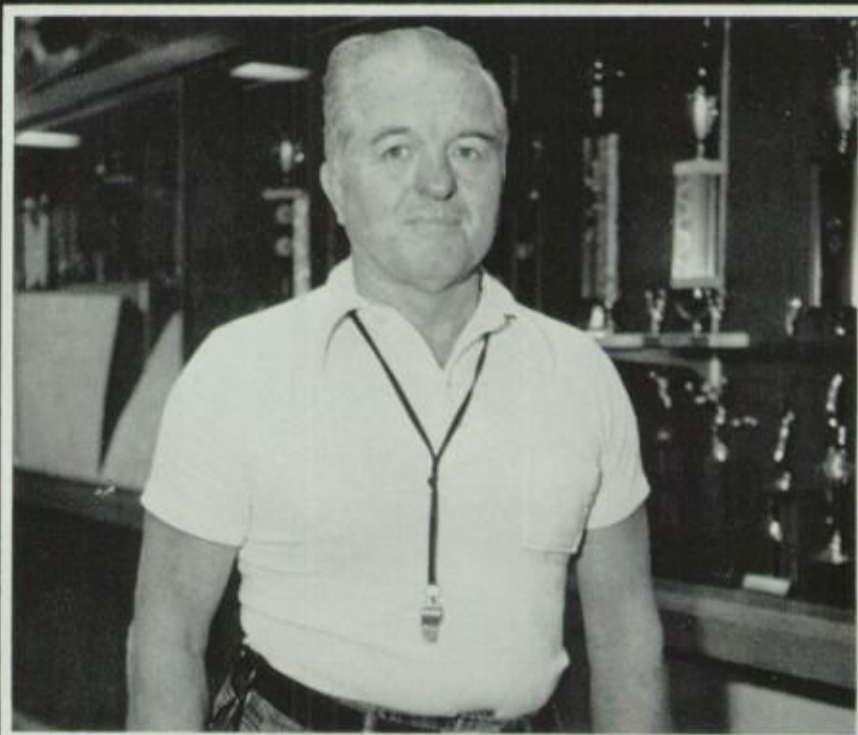

Variety is the keynote of the Media Center. The sprawling facilities and varied services denote the many facets of the program. It includes the following: 1. A Main Library which houses books, pamphlets, maps, charts and art reproductions, 2. a Library Annex that houses magazines and career and college materials, 3. a Graphics area, 4. an Audio Visual area and 5. a Listening and Viewing area which houses all the hardware and software.

Students consistently use the facilities for research or recreational pursuits. Revolving exhibits are selected with the idea of broadening the students' horizons and stimulating them to learn and inquire about a multitude of subjects; for example, photography, art techniques, as well as various cultures, hobbies and recreations.

A typical sampling of the activities during the school year include the National Library Week Program, Halloween parade with the nursery school pupils, as well as recognition of Martin Luther King, Jr. day. Contemporary themes of the display cases are prepared to contribute to the smorgasbord of materials available to students and staff. Diversity is the keynote of this department.

The Niles West Math Department had an outstanding year. Due to the expert leadership provided by the staff, student enthusiasm was at an all time high. Various extra-curricular activities were available to students interested. The Michael Tarpey Math Intramurals and the Computer Club were the two most popular. The Niles West Math Team continued to be one of the top teams in the state. Also this year, the Micro-Computer Center was added to the third floor due to the increased popularity of computers. Students used the computers during their free time.

The Sound Of Music

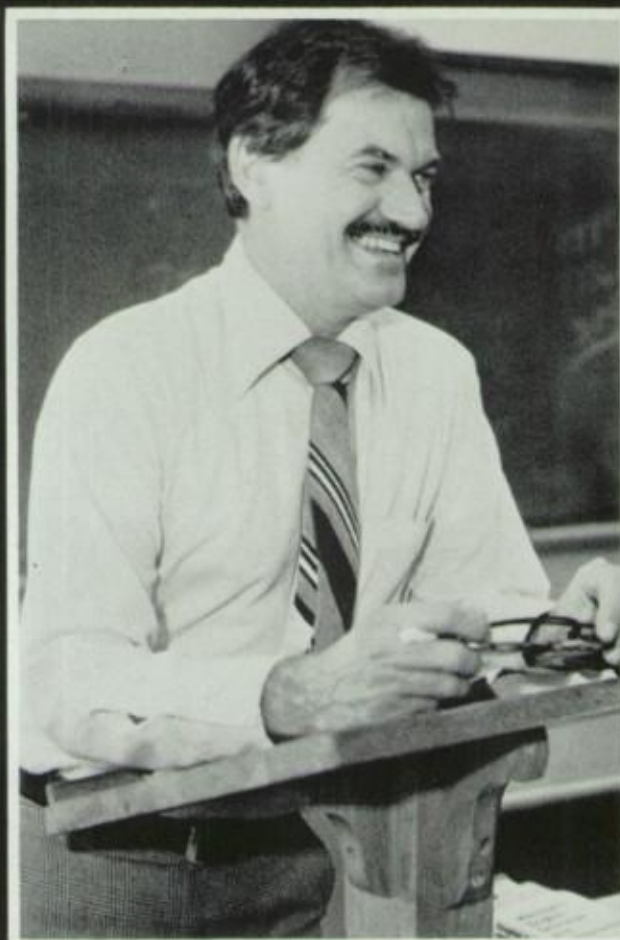

The key to our music department's prosperous year was the combination of both receptive students and exceptional performance of the teaching staff. Also contributing to the program were Holly Webb and Dave Anderson, both student teachers. By playing at activities ranging from basketball and football games, and pep assemblies, to concerts, musicals, charity performances, and a great deal more, the band demonstrated its versatility. The status that the music program provided for Niles West was apparent at all of these activities. The highlights of the music department included its tour of Denver, Colorado, their Roosevelt University performance, the Boston Pops dinner, and their contributions to the Creative Arts series.

The nurses again this year helped many students feel better. Whether it was a headache, or a cold, or just a place for a cold compress to help one cool down, the nurses were there. They did many things for relief and they are to be commended for a super job!

Pumping Iron

There were many changes in the P.E. program. After being excluded for several years, a boys' flickerball program has been reintroduced. The game utilizes a football and places emphasis on passing, and while it is similar to basketball, it employs no dribbling. It is played on a large outdoor field utilizing penalties similar to that of ice hockey. Also added was a boys' twelve-inch fast pitch softball program. This past year brought the introduction of new skates into the girls' roller skating program. Due to past popularity, girls' aerobic dance classes were doubled. A highlight of this year's P.E. program was a lecture-demonstration and master dance class performed by Lynda Martha from Gus Giordano.

Enthusiasm generated by staff and students allowed the Science Department at Niles West to have another outstanding year. Once again the Annual Science Fair was extremely successful. The programs continued to provide an outstanding education for all students. Recognition was received in advanced placements programs, science fair programs, and high levels of achievement on national testing. Also the State JETS Competition continued to improve.

History Of The World

The Social Studies program at Niles West offers each student a balanced program, much more extensive than most high schools in America. The three year graduation requirement provides students with instruction in a wide range of topics. These topics range from Family Living to Psychology. Family Living considers each individual in families in our society. Characteristics and problems of adolescents, relationships between generations, and family history and the history of families are some of the items studied in this course. Psychology, which is also offered at West, is an introductory course in which the science of human behavior is studied. These courses and a wide range of others are required for graduation and are designed to promote educated citizens and to prepare students for college.

The Social Studies department this year took a trip to the Museum of Science and Industry to look at the exhibit "The Money Center." This trip was designed to give the students a better understanding about supply and demand, savings, distribution, and economics.

Various student services were very productive. The CIC Department served many students this year. New to this department were Don Waddell and Roseanne Day, who was a student teacher. A CIC student must have met the curricular and credit requirements of any other student to have received a diploma at Niles West. IIC also had a great year. With the addition of Michaela Rowland, the IIC strengthened its teaching power. Tutoring and supportive help were the two major goals for IIC Department. There was also growth in the program for the visually impaired students here at West. Sheila Wexler, the teacher, spent about 80% of her time working with them. A full time clerk, Natalie Kaufman, worked with Mrs. Wexler this year.

The Niles West clerical staff was an important part of the school. Employees worked in areas such as stenopool, main office, resource centers, and student services. Their jobs included answering the switchboard, providing schedules, sending mailings, making appointments, and helping students find information in the resource centers.

Again this year the cafeteria workers worked very hard. They performed many duties including cooking, serving, and cleaning. Unfortunately, this year food prices increased from 95¢ to $1.25. This was due to Reagan's cutbacks.

One to the Band

we have many funny memories of the band that we would like to share with you. Freshman year we played many hard & little bands during the middle of every song in (drum band). We started our lessons with the famous march, the Sopomore year was the beginning of our metamorphosis into a giant G-trip (marching band). Junior year was the year of the non alcoholic hurricane which were drank by the gallon on Bourbon Street in New Orleans. Senior year we finally blew off a band for the first time (Thank you Andy Russell for giving us the incentive!). We want to express our gratitude to Dr. Croelins for putting up with our "band" and out of tune sounds which finally developed into the job bus "playing!"

WILM, PAUL: Numerals; Minor N; Major N; Cross Country 1,3,4; Indoor Track 1,2; Outdoor Track 1,3,4; Softball 1,2; Summer running club; 300 mile club; Hockey 1,2,3; Swimming 2; Bowling; Hinsdale Marathon 3,4; Racquetball 3; Hall runners 1,2,3,4; Hand BALL 4; Checker club 3; Badminton team 3; Medical careers club 1,2,3; Forums 3; Jazz Band 3; Outstanding Community Service Award.

WINANDY, DAWN: Reflections crew 2; Girls bowling 2,3,4; Major N 2,3,4; Captain 4.

WITT, MARK: Basketball 1,2; Soccer 1,2,3,4; Varsity "N" 2,3,4; All-conference 3,4; All-state 4; Midwest All-American 4; co-captain 3,4; Yearbook sports editor 3,4; National Honor Society 3,4; N-club 4; Tutors club 4; Senior class cabinet 4; Bronze Key 4; K.A.C. 2,3,4. My most memorable experience at West was in my junior year. On a cool, crisp October morning our soccer team traveled to New Trier East for an important conference game. Everyone was psyched up for playing the state finalists from the year before. The game was a superb show of skills, with Niles West coming out on top 2-0. Everyone on the team played exceptionally well. Many fine scoring opportunities were created, but even better defensive plays stopped these attacks. This game was a stepping stone on our way to a Conference Championship.

WITZ, GARY: Cross country 1,2; Art council 2,3,4; yearbook 3,4; sports editor 3; drama 4; "Grease" musical 4. My most memorable experience at West was senior year when I decided to try out for the musical. There were over one hundred and fifty people who tried out. Out of all the kids, I was chosen to be one of the thirty in the cast. I was completely amazed.

YAKOUBEK, SUE: Ecology club 1; Bowling team 1; Red certificate 1; Bronze Key 2; Niles

Survey Senior Survey Senior Survey Senior

West Service Organization 3; My most memorable experiences at Niles West was finally meeting Gary, getting to know him, and being so very proud I had the courage to take that difficult first step.

YEDLIN, NANCY: Key club 1; Wrestlettes 2; Monitor 1,2; Ushers 1,2; My most memorable experience was sophomore year at Niles East. Juli and I were goofing around with squirt guns and I accidentally shot a Kamakasi and did she go wild, she chased me down trojan hall into the gym. I thought she was going to kill me. Then if that wasn't bad enough, 2 seconds later Juli shot a girl and she did threaten to kill her! We still continued to squirt people.

YOUNG, LAUREN: White honors 1; Scarlet honors 2; Bronze Key 3; Pom pon 2,3,4; captain 4; Midnight Riders 1,2,3,4. My most memorable experience in four years at Niles West was April 28, 1979; Ken Lisno!! And Shari, my best friend always!! Good luck forever to them both!!

YOUSTR, KRISTIN: Cross Country Team 1,2; Track 1,2; Cheerleading 2,3,4; Midnight Riders 1,2,3,4; Major N 1. My most memorable experience was cheerleading camp when we got caught by the hotel manager in the pool and I turned green after chewing tobacco. Camp was fun!!!

ZAKSON, HEATHER SHAWN: Indian Mascot 3,4; Orchestra 1,2,3,4; Vice-president 3; Band Tours (Pa. and New Orleans) 1,3; Steppin' Out 1,2,3,4; "Grease" cast 4; National Honor Society 3,4; Key Club 4; Senior Class Cabinet 4; West Word staff 4; Bronze, Silver, Gold Keys. My most memorable experiences were: Discussions on smog with Craig in French. soph. year; Rejects Anonymous (macaroni luncheons); jr. year "our table"; Nebby-ness; Ballet tennis, Mama M, packrats; MOON over Wilmette (M.D.); Frosty the bear; Anomatopoeia; "He was so sram dobbied!"; many terrific times as Indian; Unforgettable band tours; dipping at Lee Street (C.H.); for Mike-the (in)famous "mark of the deviate"; for M.B., a life full of strawberries; for Denise, 7 and 7's, 3:00am songs, Michigan Dunes "wipeout!", "Good Morning. I'm home!", a drawer full of toothbrushes, and a donation for research into the Madonna W complex; for me, M.D., and C.H., POLO; for Mr. Lorenz, just what he deserves-the very best of everything! P.S. AND knowing Mrs. C (Ha-Ha, Lady, I gotcha this time).

ZEFF, JAY: Indoor Track 1,2,3,4; Major N 3,4; Tennis 1; Bronze pin 3; Chess 1,2,3,4; president 3,4; Outdoor Track 2,3,4; Hinsdale Marathon 4; Cross Country 2,3,4; N-club 4; Illinois State Scholar 4. I would like to thank all my friends and teachers who pulled me through that long, rocky road from being a stupid freshman, insignificant and meaningless, to a superior senior, glorious and omnipotent. I would also like to give a "heartfelt" thanks to Mr. Ackman and Mr. Holz for coming through on my chem. grade.

ZEID, RICHARD: Class cabinet 1,2,4; Intramural racquetball 2,3; AFS 4. My plans are kept in a safe that no one, that's NO ONE, could, can, or will get to. Therefore I cannot tell, for they are to be kept in secrecy for all my mortal days and then my immortal days.

ZEINFELD, JOYCE: Tennis Team 1; Leaders Gym 3,4; White Certificate 1; Bronze Key 3. My future plans are to go to the University of Illinois and become a very successful educational psychologist.

ZELINSKY, CLIFF: Concert Band 1,2,3; Jazz Band 1,2,3; Marching Band 1,2,3; Rank Leader 2; Reflections Band 1; Pow-Wow Band 3; Band Board 3; Niles East Jazz Band Tour to Albion, Michigan 1; New Orleans Tour 2; Denver Tour 3; NEDT certificate of merit. My most memorable experience at Niles West was the music tour to New Orleans.

ZEMSKY, ALAN: Tennis Team 3,4; Swimming Team 3; National Honor Society 3,4; Yearbook 3,4; Faculty Editor 4; Red Honors 1; Bronze Key 2, Silver Key 3, Gold Key 4; Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, Senior Class Cabinets; SRA 1,2,3; Spanish club 3,4; Israeli Club 1,2,3,4; AFS 1,2,3,4. I would most like to be remembered for playing in the "Niles West Snow Bowl" in gym class during my senior year.

ZYGMUN, ART: Football 1,2,3,4; Major N 2,3,4; Wrestling 1,2,3,4; Major N 3,4; Baseball 1,2; N-club 2,3,4; All conference football 4; All state wrestler. First of all, all my memorable experiences happened over at Niles East, the home of the Trojans. There is no one thing that was so memorable, because everyday at East was memorable. I guess the one thing that will always stick in the minds of people from East is the spirit and unity we had over there. It was like one big happy family. You can take the trojans out of Niles East, but you can't take Niles East out of the Trojans!!!

Seniors have the spirit.

Rave Reviews Praise The Reel Stars

The Spectrum '82 staff takes a well deserved break to pose for the camera.

In recent years the Spectrum staff has done a good job, but this year Spectrum '82, the movie, has attained a 4 star rating. The collaboration of all cast and crew members is shown in each and every film sequence. Assistant editor and photography editor Jodi Stone has come back for one more appearance to put a first rate effort into the job. The cinematography captures the true meaning of the film and was clearly in focus. Recognition goes to leading characters in their roles: Mark Witt, Sports; Jenny Weiss, Clubs; and Maria Leberis, Faculty.

Others are: Karen Schwartz, Special Events; Lisa Shapiro,

Juniors; Tami Weitzman, Sophomores; Linda Friedman, Freshmen; and Marilyn Moltz, Seniors. Special commendations should be awarded to those who truly made work on the movie easier and more fun for the director, Tracey Miller. These people are Leonard Go, Tom Weiss, Gregg Arenson, Ray Chao, Laura Friedlander, and Rich Miller. Without their dedication and hard work, the release of the movie may have been delayed. Together, the stars of Spectrum '82 have made a superb and interesting movie that they should all be proud of, and which may make a sweep of all the Academy Awards.

News short

The people behind the stage lights deserve some praise from the re-viewers. Head script consultants Jerome Orr and Angela Graham have had a hand in every segment of the film. Their opinions which stem from previous film work have been a much needed addition. Extra help came from Richard Antes and Marge Philippe. The main technician, Dennis Edar should be honored, for without his knowledge of the movie industry, the movie would not be possible. If it wasn't for all these backstage people, Spectrum '82 would still be on the cutting room floor.

Editor Tracey Miller works to produce an Academy Award winner.

And the award for the happiest grin goes to Jodi Stone.

Our favorite advisor speaks on the finer points of year-book editing.

Section editors Tami Weitzman, Karen Schwartz and Lisa Shapiro, join in the fun at a yearbook party during the year.

Although they are usually joking around, Steve Miller and Cary Kochman are caught making their contribution.
